

SECOND PAY CUT OF 10 PCT. CALLED FOR BY P. S. CO.

Executive Board of Street Car Men's Union Meets Saturday to Consider Notice of Reduction Effective June 1.

ANNUAL SAVING
PUT AT $685,000

Average Wage, $1650;
Slashed to $1485 Last
Oct. 16 and Further Pruning Proposed Would Carry It Down to $1337.

A proposed 10 per cent reduction in wages of employees of the Public Service Co., the second within a year, will be considered by the executive board of the street car men's union at a meeting Saturday night.

Notice of the proposed reduction, to be effective June 1, was sent to the union last night by Stanley Clarke, president of the Public Service Co., in a letter notifying the union of the company's intention to terminate the present wage contract May 20. Willingness to negotiate a new contract was expressed in Clarke's letter.

The company states the reduction is to apply to the entire employed personnel numbering 4227. The union membership is about 5000, made up principally of street car and bus operators and shop workers.

Saving Expected $685,000.

Wages paid by the company last year were $7,455,139. Clarke said the new rate would save $685,000 less if the 10 per cent wage reduction made effective last Oct. 16 had been in force all year. On that basis the 10 per cent reduction now proposed would save the company $685,000 annually.

H. M. Nelson, president of the union, said the matter would come before the regular meeting next Monday at Unity Hall, Grand and Page boulevards. The meeting is in two groups, one at 9 a. m. and the other at 8 p. m. It is usual for the executive board, composed of the union officials and elected captains, to report a recommendation to the general meeting. But Nelson had nothing to say as to the possible procedure. The company's action was a disappointment to him, and he said he had no advance information that it was contemplated.

What Men Will Earn.

The average annual earnings of the men car operators were about $1650 before the first cut. Last year's 10 per cent reduction cut this to $1485, and if it is again reduced 10 per cent it will be about $1337.

The reason given by the company for proposing the reduction is the continued decline in the revenue. As has been told, it had a deficit last year of $66,149 after paying interest on borrowed money and after setting aside $1,517,770 for depreciation. Total operating revenue last year was $18,927,842, compared with $18,708,359 in 1930. In his letter to the union Clarke estimated gross revenue this year would not exceed $18,400,000, a reduction of $527,800 from 1931.

Clarke's letter, after giving formal notice of intention to terminate the contract with the union, continued: "The company intends, as of June 1, 1932, to reduce by 10 per cent the rate of pay now being paid to each of its employees. It is agreeable that, in the event a new contract is entered into with Local 788 (the union), such contract shall provide that the working conditions and other provisions now in force shall not be changed except those working conditions relating to time paid for but not worked."

Clarke also quoted from the letter April 2 and concluded: "Our action taken today in sending you this notice of termination of our action in giving notice to all employees of a 10 per cent reduction in rate of pay from that now being received by them, was taken only after grave consideration of all the facts and after having discussed these facts with your representatives and having arrived at the conclusion that by no other means than a reduction in rate of pay could we maintain the street car industry in St. Louis, which is the source of livelihood to the members of the Public Service Co. and the working contract street car operators whose runs do

TARIFFS FORCE SUSPENSION OF TRANS-ANDEAN RAILWAY

Traffic on Famous Narrow-Gauge Line Over Mountains Between Argentina and Chile Stopped.

By the Associated Press.
MENDOZA, Argentina, April 20.—The world famous trans-Andean railroad, which links the Atlantic and the Pacific over the Andes, two miles above the sea, was abandoned today.

Tariff walls that have sprung up between Argentina and Chile, each struggling to maintain its business in times of distress, have halted the trains over the 155 miles of narrow gauge track.

Chile and Argentina are committed stubbornly to the protection of foreign imports, even from each other, and the resulting retaliatory duties have killed the freight traffic which sustained the railway. British administrators suspended operations today rather than continue indefinitely at a loss of $15,000 a month.

Both Chile and Argentina are financially interested in the line, at least indirectly, and they deplore the stoppage of traffic on the line, but they think their interests require policies of domestic self-sufficiency.

The people have refused to believe that a railroad so costly and seemingly so indispensable to both nations actually would be deserted, but its executives insist that only a drastic change in governmental policies can bring about resumption of traffic.

The chief blow at the road's business was the cessation of cattle shipments from Argentina to Chile. Passenger trains operated twice a week between Buenos Aires and Santiago, Chile. The fare was about 35 cents a mile over the trans-Andean section.

Trains will still be operated normally between Buenos Aires and Mendoza and between Santiago and Los Andes, but 500 families here and many others at Los Angeles will be left without employment by the trans-Andean suspension.

MUSTN'T COMPLAIN IF WE DO GO BROKE, SCHWAB DECLARES

Steel Man Points to Five or Six Years of Great Prosperity.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 20.—Charles M. Schwab says "We mustn't complain if we have five or six years of depression, or if we do go broke," because "we had five or six years of great prosperity and we did not notice how quickly they glided by."

Speaking extemporaneously yesterday at a luncheon of the Pennsylvania Society, of which he was elected president, Schwab, chairman of the board of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, said:

"The rich man has virtually vanished from the American picture, and those who once were wealthy are now 'afraid to look at their ledgers to see if they are worth anything.'"

Schwab included himself in his generalizations. "I have been a very rich man and have always thought that the question of money in my lifetime would never come up," he said. "But there are no rich in America today. We don't know where the money is."

However, he went on, if men "will just go to work and sweat a little, things will ultimately be all right."

"The only thing for the real man to do is to sweat and go to work and build for his industry, build for his home and build for his country and his future."

WIRELESS PHONE FOR POPE

Tests Made at Vatican With Aid of Marconi.

By the Associated Press.
VATICAN CITY, April 20.—Successful ultra short wave telephone tests were made yesterday between the Vatican City radio station and the Catholic College at Villa Mondragone, near Frascati. The tests were similar to those made by Guglielmo Marconi near Genoa recently, and intended to determine the desirability of installing a regular wireless telephone for Pope Pius at his summer residence at Castle Gandolfo.

Father Gianfranceschi, director of the papal wireless station, handled the experiments here, communicating with Marconi and the engineers at Villa Mondragone.

ALDERMAN BARNES DIES SUDDENLY

Was Preparing to Leave Hospital After 12-Day Physical Examination.

Alderman Harry H. Barnes of the Twenty-fourth Ward died unexpectedly at Missouri Baptist Hospital at 11:30 o'clock this morning. He had dressed preparatory to leaving the hospital after a general physical examination lasting 12 days.

Death was caused by acute dilation of the heart. Dr. David C. Todd, his physician, had told Mrs. Barnes five minutes before he called for her husband. The Alderman had been troubled by a chronic cough and neuritis. His doctor told him to return to work on a reduced schedule after resting at his country place near Eads.

A nurse found Mr. Barnes semi-conscious in his room and he died as an interne arrived. He was 57 years old and resided at 7035 West Park avenue.

For some time Mr. Barnes was western agent for the Axton-Fisher Tobacco Co. Previously he was a union printer for years, and at one time he edited a labor publication.

In the primary in March, 1931, Mr. Barnes defeated Chauncey J. Krueger for the Republican nomination for Alderman from the big Twenty-fourth Ward. Krueger, who was supported by Mayor Miller's forces, had been Alderman, but was opposed because he favored a popular street opening. Mr. Barnes was elected last April. He was friendly to the political factions of Charles Hertenstein and former Mayor Kiel and was considered unopposed by Miller.

His principal opponent in the Tenth Ward, who died recently, will be chosen at the November election. Nominations will be made by the party committees after the primary. In the meantime the board will have a membership of 27 instead of 29.

OPPORTUNITY FOR BEER VOTE IN SENATE VIRTUALLY ASSURED

Committee Adversely Reports Bingham 4 Per Cent Bill, but Allows It to Go to Floor.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—A Senate opportunity to vote on beer this session was virtually assured yesterday despite disapproval of the Bingham bill to legalize 4 per cent brew by the Manufacturers Committee.

In reporting the measure adversely 7 to 4, committee members agreed to let it go to the Senate floor.

CHICAGO, April 20.—Adolph Dauber, 55 years old, head of an investment securities firm, was killed last night in plunge from the twentieth floor of the Continental-Illinois Bank Building. A note left at his desk asked that his wife be notified.

Dauber, once reputedly wealthy, was reported by friends to have been practically penniless. Surviving, besides Mrs. Dauber, who lives here, is a son, A. L. Dauber of Evansville, Ind., whom the police informed of the death early today.

MRS. MASSIE TAKES STAND AT HONOLULU TRIAL

Wife of Naval Lieutenant Accused With Three Others for Killing Hawaiian Testifies.

SOBS AS SHE TELLS STORY OF ATTACK

Prosecution Has Specialist Due to Arrive Tomorrow to Combat Expert Testimony Offered.

By the Associated Press.
HONOLULU, April 20.—Mrs. Thalia Massie took the witness stand today in the final of deuce efforts to clear her husband and three others on trial for killing her alleged attacker, Joseph Kahahawai.

Capt. Thomas H. Massie, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, E. J. Lord and Albert O. Jones, enlisted men in the navy, are charged with the murder.

Mrs. Massie said she was born in Washington, 21 years ago, and was married on Thanksgiving day four years ago. She said she had lived in Honolulu three years.

At the mention of the name of her husband, Mrs. Massie sobbed. "Do you remember especially," Clarence Darrow, chief defense counsel, asked, "the party at Alawa Inn?" (From which Mrs. Massie strolled just before she was seized.)

"Yes," she replied.

Darrow asked her what time she left the dance the night of the attack. She said it was about 11:35 p. m. and that she intended to walk to a corner and back. Mrs. Massie testified she was tired and was not enjoying the party.

Massie paled as his wife began her story. Mrs. Fortescue's eyes filled with tears.

Mrs. Massie testified she went from in front of the inn to the main avenue, but turned down John Ewa road because it was better lighted.

Testimony on Assault Banned.

Prosecutor Kelley stopped her. "We are not retrying the assault case," he said. "The only legitimate purpose of her testimony is what she told her husband."

Judge Davis upheld Kelley and Darrow acquiesced.

"When did you next meet Tommy (Massie)?" Darrow asked. Mrs. Massie burst into tears.

"When did you next see Tommy after you turned down the road?" Darrow began again when Mrs. Massie had regained her composure.

"I saw him," Mrs. Massie said between gasps, "at home. I heard him coming up the walk. He heard me crying and asked me what was the matter and weeping especially at a time when it is staggering under the greatest depression in our history."

"They say if we bring back liquor we will end the unemployment and bring back prosperity. Why hasn't this been the case in Germany and England, where every seventh person is on a dole from the Government?"

"It was, indeed, amusing to hear the head of the woman's prohibition reform organization tell of the rapid growth of their misnamed organization, before this committee last week. She did not tell how her organization had paid workers to go from state to state making house-to-house canvasses, getting innocent and unsuspecting signers that they were working for reform, when, as a matter of fact, they were working for repeal."

"These rich 'wet' society women, who are determined to have their booze, have the help of their allies, the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, and are backed by the brewers and distillers in their efforts to bring back liquor."

A Success, Mrs. Colvin Says.

York, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of New York State, said prohibition "has been a decided success. But politicians have failed. Wealthy men who have made money in the manufacture of liquor and those who expect to turn industrial alcohol plants into the manufacture of beverage alcohol by their repeal of prohibition—these have failed."

"Those who put appetite above loyalty to laws, the ones who finance bootleggers and criminals and Government officials who wink at violations of law and share in the profits of illegal sales, men who preach violation of laws they do not approve, these have failed."

"The city administrations which protect law violators and the politicians who become immensely wealthy through connivance with the underworld, state governments which have repealed laws against bootleggers and criminals and prohibit the state courts from pun-

GIVE PROHIBITION A CHANCE, WOMAN DRY LEADERS ASK

In Appearance Before Senate Judiciary Committee They Oppose Any Modification of the Laws.

'WETS HAVE HAD DAY AND FAILED'

They Point to Germany and England in Denying Return of Liquor Would End Unemployment.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 20.—Opposition to any modification of the prohibition laws was expressed before a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee today by spokesmen for more than 150 prohibitionists, mostly women.

Meanwhile representatives of the Women's National Committee for Law Enforcement presented a resolution to President Hoover declaring they would not support "a dry candidate on a wet platform" of either party.

Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson, president of the National Women's Democratic Law Enforcement League, asserted at the Senate hearing:

"This country is dry. If there is any doubt about it let one of the political parties again name a wet candidate for President in 1932 and the constitutional men and women of this country will give them such a licking as they never dreamed of, and 1928 won't be a circumstance."

"The time has come in America," said Mrs. Nicholson, "for democracy to choose between America and the Constitution on the one side and of nullification and the wets on the other. Let us give prohibition a chance. The wets have had their day and failed."

Rufus Lusk of the Crusaders, anti-prohibition organization, was present when Mrs. Nicholson said: "The Crusaders have been here last week that all of the members of their organization were very young men. That is our contention, those that are joining these organizations were in mechanics too young to know the evils of the saloon era."

"If these officers and workers in these wet organizations were relieved of their large salaries—all they need is a few dollars. They are conducting would fail flat."

Germany and England.

"These selfish millionaires," she continued, "with their rich women allies who are demanding rearmament, repeal or a referendum, know full well that if they should get what they are demanding, it would bring chaos in our country, especially at a time when it is staggering under the greatest depression in our history."

"They say if we bring back liquor we will end the unemployment and bring back prosperity. Why hasn't this been the case in Germany and England, where every seventh person is on a dole from the Government?"

SENATE LOG-ROLLERS PLAN TO PUT GENERAL SALES TAX BACK IN THE REVENUE BILL

BOARDER KILLED, TWO WOMEN SHOT; SLAYER ENDS LIFE

Alton Machinist Fatally Wounds Brother of Mate's First Husband, Injures Wife and Another.

BREAKFAST TABLE

Man Leaves Room and Returns With Revolver After Argument About Expenses of House.

Joseph Ebner, a former machinist, 2704 Judson avenue, Alton, shot and killed a man boarding at his home, wounded his invalid wife, Mrs. Louise Ebner, and a woman boarder, and then killed himself shortly after 7 o'clock this morning. Three other residents of the house whom he attempted to shoot escaped injury.

Six persons were at breakfast in the kitchen of the Ebner home when a quarrel arose between Ebner and his wife over the $30 light bill at the house. In addition Ebner and his wife, who is 58 years old; those at the table were Frank W. Schneider, 58, city weighmaster of Alton, and a brother of Mrs. Ebner's first husband; Mrs. Mary Potts, 63, a boarder; Theodore Scheibe, 55, a nephew of Mrs. Ebner, and Mrs. Anna Bennett, the housekeeper.

Leaving the table, Ebner went to the garage in the rear of the house and returned with his hand on a revolver in his pocket. He threatened Scheibe, asking if he "had any right" to be living at the house. Mrs. Ebner, who was in a wheelchair, joined with Scheibe in defending his right to stay at the house and Ebner, enraged, drew the revolver and began firing.

Mrs. Ebner was shot in the neck and Schneider killed by a bullet in the head as they sat in the kitchen. Scheibe and Mrs. Bennett were fired upon as they fled to the backyard. Mrs. Potts was shot in the right side as Ebner pursued her through the house.

Mrs. Edith Hausman, a daughter of Mrs. Bennett, went downstairs from the second floor when she heard the shooting, and Ebner attempted to fire at her, but had exhausted his ammunition. He then ran to the garage for more and shot himself in the head. Scheibe, who had previously charged Madux with various degrees of complicity in the murder.

Flash mentioned a blood-stained pair of coveralls found near the scene of the killing some weeks after the murder, as part of the evidence on which he made his affidavit. Whether the blood was that of a human or an animal has not been established, nor has his ownership, if it is known to authorities, ever been made public.

The housemaid's plea of guilty was entered in a courtroom crowded to capacity, after a jury, selected yesterday, had been impeached to try her for murder.

By agreement reached at a conference of counsel this morning, former Supreme Court Judge Charles C. Revelle, her attorney, withdrew her plea of not guilty at the opening of the afternoon session. Prosecuting Attorney Castlen then announced he intended to try her for second-degree murder, and Revelle then entered a plea of guilty.

"I am convinced," he said in a statement to the court, "that this defendant is a person of extremely low mentality, not capable of drawing any fine distinctions. I am also thoroughly convinced that the essential element of first-degree murder—premeditation—is entirely lacking from this case."

"Furthermore, I am sure that she was not unaided in this crime. A gloved hand directed her and her low mental state made her an easy subject for dictation. I hope she will not be judged as unkindly by the public as she has been portrayed in the public press."

Prosecuting Attorney Castlen said he agreed that the defendant was of low mentality, probably with the capabilities of a girl of 10. He recommended life imprisonment, and the sentence was formally pronounced while the red-headed defendant received without change of expression.

CLARA FISH GETS LIFE FOR MURDER ON GUILTY PLEA

Husband of Mrs. Reba Maddux, the Victim, Arrested Shortly After the Girl Defendant Halts Trial.

Clara Fish, 19-year-old housemaid who slashed her employer, Mrs. Reba Maddux, to death with a razor last Oct. 30 in a lonely spot on the western outskirts of Kirkwood, pleaded guilty of second-degree murder before Circuit Judge Mueller at Clayton this afternoon, and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Thirty minutes after she had been sentenced, Walter Maddux, crippled laborer and husband of the slain woman, who has previously admitted intimacies between himself and the housemaid, was arrested in the Prosecuting Attorney's office on a warrant charging murder. He was ordered held without bond pending preliminary hearing on May 4.

The warrant was issued on complaint of Joseph Fish of Arab, Mo., father of Mrs. Maddux's slayer, who refused to say on what information he based his charge. Presumably it was founded on statements made by his daughter, who had previously charged Maddux with various degrees of complicity in the murder.

Flash mentioned a blood-stained pair of coveralls found near the scene of the killing some weeks after the murder, as part of the evidence on which he made his affidavit. DICKER FOR TARIFF ON OIL, LUMBER, COPPER INDICATED

Shortridge Says Move Will Begin in Finance Committee of Which Smoot Is Chairman and Standpatter Reed Is Member.

SPECIAL INTERESTS ARGUE THEIR CASES

Cordell Hull Demands of Pleader: 'Who Is Going to Pay These Tariff Subsidies to Few Favored Industries?'

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—A vigorous attempt to revive the general sales tax and restore it to the new revenue bill will be made by Old Guard Republicans in the Senate, it was learned today. Senator Shortridge (Rep.), California, said the effort would be initiated in the Senate Finance Committee, where it also is assured of the support of Chairman Smoot of Utah and Senator Reed, Pennsylvania standpatter.

New evidence of a log-rolling trade designed to obtain tariffs on oil, copper and lumber, turned up this morning when representatives of the Pacific coast lumber industry appeared before the Finance Committee asking for protective duties on rough and dressed lumber, logs, poles, pulp wood, wood pulp, laths and shingles.

Oil and coal tariffs were put in the bill by the House, and the copper men made their appeal yesterday. For many days it has been known that Senators from the respective states producing these four products were seeking to reach an agreement to support one another's claims. This is what is known as log-rolling—"You vote for my tariff and I'll vote for yours."

Hull Quizzes Lumber Men.

As W. B. Greely of Seattle, Wash., concluded his plea for lumber tariffs, Senator Cordell Hull (Dem.), Tennessee, asked: "Is the breakdown in your industry as serious as that which has been described in the copper and oil industries, and which seems to be true of nearly all American industries?"

"I think our condition is the worst," replied Greely.

"Well, who is going to pay these special tariff subsidies to a few favored industries when virtually all industry is prostrate?" Greely said he did not believe a lumber tariff would increase the domestic price, and Hull retorted that he did not see, then, how it would help the industry.

Ralph Shaffer of Tacoma, in the course of his plea for a tariff on wood pulp, mentioned that the pulp mills operate without cessation.

"You mean to say you work them seven days a week?" asked Tom Connally, Texas Democrat. "Yes, sir."

"I should think the employees would need the tariff," observed Connally. Shaffer explained that the shifts are staggered so that nobody works more than six days a week.

Angry Controversy Springs Up.

An angry controversy ensued when Chairman Smoot tried to cut the testimony short. Senators Jones of Washington and Steiwer of Oregon, Republicans, protested bitterly.

"These men have come here from 2000 miles distant to appear, and if they are shut out, I'll take their testimony myself and read every word of it to the Senate," Steiwer stormed. "Now you just go right ahead and do that," replied Greely, Oklahoma Democrat. "No threats will go here."

"Moreover, the American League is here, to tell of general industrial conditions in the Northwest," Jones added.

"I suppose the Legionnaires are experts on industrial conditions?" Greely suggested sarcastically.

"We'll never get through 'with this bill if we don't impose some expression,"

BUREAU FAVORS 'RUTHLESS' CUT IN CITY BUDGET

Municipal Research Bulletin Declares 20 Instead of 10 Per Cent Reduction Is Essential.

FOR GRADUATED SLASH IN WAGES

These Consumed 70 Pct. of Last Year's Funds—Cites Refusal of Judges to Trim Salaries Voluntarily

"Ruthless" cutting of city expenditures will be necessary to balance the municipal budget for 1932-33, the Bureau of Municipal Research says in a bulletin issued today.

The bureau, a private research body, holds that expenditures subject to budget control must be reduced 20 per cent, instead of the 10 per cent proposed by the city Board of Estimate and Apportionment. It declares a graduated salary cut for city employees, with an exemption for small salaries, to be advisable.

"The total reduction which must be made," the bureau says, "requires an average cut of approximately 12 per cent in every item of expense in last year's budget. But the expenditures relating to police, elections, courts and a few other activities, are partially or wholly removed from budget control. Circuit judges, for example, have refused the suggestion that they accept a cut in salary. The average cut of 12 per cent must therefore be increased to some 20 per cent in order to obtain the necessary total economies from the departmental expenditures under full budget control.

"In contrast with this cut of 20 per cent, the Board of Estimate and Apportionment has requested department heads to make a cut of only 10 per cent. Manifestly this reduction will be inadequate.

Salaries Bulk of Expense

"Since salaries and wages constituted slightly more than 70 per cent of last year's appropriations, it is imperative to eliminate all except absolutely necessary positions. The measures taken will need to be much more ruthless than those thus far suggested, especially since hospital services, which are meeting heavy demands, cannot be cut as much as other departments. The comptroller has recently set an excellent example for the department heads by eliminating seven employees no longer needed. Employees who are eliminated should receive preference in civil service examinations which are held, the large turnover in city service thus reabsorbing them.

"Unless new taxes are voted, a 20 per cent reduction must be made in last year's expenditures by departments under budget control. It seems unlikely that this will be accomplished by eliminating positions and economizing on general costs. Recourse must be had to a salary cut. It will seem more humane to work out a graduated cut with an exemption for small salaries, rather than to apply a flat reduction which makes no distinction between the small and large salary brackets.

Wants Police to Trim Costs

"The Police Department should contribute more help in this emergency than it has. Police requests are $209,000, or only 3.8 per cent, below last year's expenditures, far less than the average cut which departments under budget control must make. The Police Department could volunteer a salary cut such as grade school teachers have recently offered."

The bureau's bulletin reviews the progress of the pending budget bill, and tells of the requests made by various organizations for reduction in city expenditures, and of the cut of 10 per cent in real estate assessments, which will be one of several factors in reducing the city's revenue for the coming year. The comptroller's office, it is stated, has not given out any estimate as to revenues available for the coming fiscal year. Without such an estimate, it is stated, the budget cannot be balanced with any certainty.

Bureau Gives Figures. Comptroller Nolte's estimate of $2,500,000 as the amount of reduction in expenditures necessary to balance the budget is cited. To this, the bureau adds $578,000, representing the past year's increase in the budget deficit, making $3,078,000 the amount by which, it holds, expenditures must be reduced as compared with those of last year. The bureau's $3,078,000 estimate, it is stated, omits any possible excess of unemployment relief appropriations over the two special taxes enacted for the purpose. It also omits the Election Board's requested increase of $33,000.

"It is to be hoped," the bureau says, "that this sum can and will be materially reduced." The Election Board's expenses are always much larger in presidential election years, when the pay of election officials and the rent of polling places must be paid not only for the election and primary, but for the four-day registration period. The $309,000 decrease accepted by the Police Department will help toward the increased Election Board cost, the bulletin says.

happened after he had stood before Kahahawai and heard him confess the attack, Dr. Williams admitted an abnormal mental condition might have been present without inducing amnesia "but other conditions make it very probable there was amnesia." Dr. Williams said Massie's adrenal glands probably had been extremely overactive on account of worry.

Ulrich then asked if Dr. Williams recently had testified that the glands of Winnie Ruth Judd, convicted slayer of two women in Arizona, were not normal. The witness answered yes, but when Ulrich began to question him further about Mrs. Judd's condition, George S. Leisure, Darrow's associate, objected and asked Judge Charles S. Davis to have the questioning confined to the present case.

If a question were permitted tending to show whether Williams had been right or wrong in the Judd case, Leisure said, it would be necessary for the defense to show him right.

Doctors Mined, Prosecutor Suggests "Isn't it true," asked Ulrich, "that in many cases where insanity pleas are introduced and doctors go into a huddle, the insanity plea emerges because the doctors are misled either unknowingly or purposely?" Darrow objected, was overruled and took an exception.

"Yes," replied Dr. Williams, "but often doctors when they find out the purpose of the huddle, won't go into the case."

Reading from a book by Dr. Williams a passage which said the introduction of medical experts in trials was "unscientific, partisan and undignified." Williams admitted explaining it was written in support of passage of a California law whereby the Judge appoints alienists when they are used.

Indications of Amnesia. "Do you think it is an indication of amnesia?" Ulrich pursued, "when a man sits staring straight ahead when caught with a man's body?" Dr. Williams said he did.

"Do you think it abnormal for him to shake hands with himself when congratulating on something he had been wanting to do for several months and which his friends had been urging him to do?" "Yes, I think it's silly."

"But that's a long way from being insane, doctor." As Ulrich went along he hinted several times that Massie killed Kahahawai after being urged to do so by friends. Dr. Williams then went into a discussion of adrenal glands.

"When they tried to photograph your chemically insane man after the shooting, he hid his face with his hands," said Ulrich. "Would this be an indication of amnesia?" "It might or might not," said Dr. Williams. "Probably a defense reaction."

"Mental Derangement." Dr. Thomas H. Orblison, testifying yesterday, termed Massie's ailment as "delirium with ambulatory automatism," which he reduced to plain "mental derangement" when Darrow asked him for a simplified definition. The 12 men in the jury box exhibited signs of interest.

"Massie told me," said the alienist, "that, in the moment Kahahawai uttered the words 'We done it,' he didn't know what happened. I asked him what he did with the gun and other things and he said he didn't know."

"Did you approach this case intending to learn if the witness were telling the truth?" demanded Ulrich. "I certainly did. An insane man will lie to you and you know he's lying, but you know he's insane." "You mean you don't expect to receive any compensation?" "I don't mean that at all. I do expect to receive something. When I arrived I was told this was not a charity case, but that they had taken up a collection and all, though they didn't believe it was one-tenth of what I probably expected to receive, it was all they could pay."

Prosecutor J. C. Kelley announced Dr. Paul Bowers, Los Angeles alienist, would arrive tomorrow to testify for the prosecution regarding the insanity claim of Lieut. Massie. He announced he expected to call Dr. Robert Faus, City and County Physician, also to dispute the defense plea of insanity.

TRYING TO TRACE KIDNAPERS THROUGH CHILD IN HOSPITAL

Abducted Girl Says Youngster at House Where She Was Kept Swallowed Pin.

By the Associated Press. PHILADELPHIA, April 20.—Search of hospital records here for a child who swallowed a pin was made today in an effort to find the kidnapers of Hilda Brodsky, 8 years old, of Wilmington, Del.

The girl, who was kidnapped Friday while on her way to school and released Sunday, told police she had been kept in two houses here and that in one of these a child swallowed a pin and medical aid was necessary for it.

The identity of the man and woman who kidnaped Hilda and a Philadelphia man who aided in the plot is known, police said. Wilmington authorities said the director of the plot is known and will be arrested as soon as the others are captured.

George Black, superintendent of Wilmington police, thinks the abduction was engineered by a black-hand gang who had a grudge against Hilda's father, Harry Brodsky, a hosiery jobber.

LIST OF MARKET SHORT SELLERS TO BE MADE PUBLIC

Three New York Brokerage Firms Summoned by Senate Committee Making Investigation of Exchange.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, April 20.—W. E. Hutton & Co., Harold Contant, Ettinger & Brand, and Laird, Bissell & Meeds, all New York brokerage firms, have been subpoenaed to appear before the Senate Banking Committee tomorrow in the stock market investigation of the "bear" market.

Content was subpoenaed to appear personally and bring his records. The other firms were directed to send representatives to appear with the records of short transactions.

Subpoenas for about 20 traders and brokers whose names appear on the list of short sellers were issued today by the committee. The names were not made public but were selected from among the bigger traders on the list.

The names were selected from a list of 350 traders on the list of short sales on April 8, when the market took a sudden drop. All of the 350 traders involved amounted to 2500 shares or more.

Important developments in the stock market investigation of the Senate Banking Committee are promised after hearings are resumed tomorrow morning. Within a few days, said Chairman Norbeck (Rep.), South Dakota, the committee will develop "something interesting." At the same time, he promised that, in due time, the entire list of bear traders named in a record of 24,000 short sales on the New York Exchange, would be made public.

Senator Brookhart (Rep.), Iowa, joined other committee members in declaring it would be necessary to get behind the names on the list, certain that many are fictitious. But he predicted that little would be gotten out of Richard Whitney, president of the exchange, who has been the sole witness so far, because Whitney's "main business is to stay ignorant."

Whitney was recalled tomorrow. In the meantime, counsel for the committee is preparing a thorough cross-examination and laying a groundwork for future conduct of the investigation.

TRIAL OF CRIMES BY COUNCIL OF ELDERS IS SUSPENDED

Viceroy Willington Notifies Legislature in Northwest Frontier Province, India, of Change.

By the Associated Press. PESHAWAR, India, April 20.—Viceroy Earl Willington formally notified the newly elected Legislative Council in this Northwest Frontier Province capital today.

He was applauded when he announced the suspension, as an experimental measure, for one year, of the operation of the frontier crimes regulation, which provides for trial of criminal cases by reference to Council of elders.

Last Monday the Viceroy conferred on the province the status of a Governor's Province. The change was made, he said, to enable it to proceed with the other provinces of India towards a greater measure of self-government.

Plan to Put Sales Tax Back in Bill

limit," interposed the plaintiff Smoot.

"If the Legionnaires are allowed to testify for a lumber tariff, I should like to ask that the oil and coal interests be allowed to present two Legionnaires," Gore remarked in the same odd vein.

"The Senator from California (Shortridge) objects to the proposal," Smoot announced. "What?" exclaimed Shortridge, startled out of his usual solemnity. "I do not such thing! I am in favor of giving them the time they want."

"Silence!" shouted a Capitol policeman. A roar of laughter greeted the command, for although it really was intended for the speakers, it sounded as if the officer was addressing the committee, which really was making most of the noise.

"Dear, dear!" Smoot palpitated. "You give all sorts of time to the oil and copper people, and now you are trying to railroad the lumber men through without a hearing."

"Let the Senator's resentment be noted," said Gore calmly. "Eventually the tariff will be quieted by an agreement to give five minutes to the shingle men, five to the pulpwood men and 10 to the American Legion."

William D. Welsh, chairman of the Legion Unemployment Committee, representing the A. G. Spalding Co., said "most of the goods we manufacture go largely to the youth of the country," and the tax would harm their physical development.

He said that about 25 colleges have large football receipts, "but in no case do they supply more than enough for athletic needs." Since the bill proposes to tax also gate receipts, Curtiss said, "it seems to me to be a case of double taxation."

Curtiss said 95 per cent of sporting goods goes to young people, except material for golf which, he added, was a game for old and young. "Mostly for old fellows like the chairman," observed Senator Harrison (Dem.), Mississippi, indicating Chairman Smoot.

Predicts Rise in News Print. Elisha Hansen, representing American newspaper publishers, opposed the proposal for an import tax on pulp. "The effect of this," he said, "would be to increase materially the cost of news print paper to America's publishers."

"There has been a steady increase in importations due solely to the fact that domestic producers have been unable to supply the needs. The whole trend of production has been to the Pacific Coast and the Pacific Coast is underselling the world in the New York market. The only purpose of such a tariff would be to permit the producers to increase the price."

Senator Jones (Rep.), Washington, asked how much the price of newspapers has dropped. "News-papers have lost circulation and advertising," said Hansen. "But we are not asking special relief, we don't want you to permit these producers to boost the price when they are already underselling the world market."

LAST OBSTACLE TO CHICAGO TAX COLLECTION REMOVED

Supreme Court Reverses Decision Holding 1928 and 1929 Assessments Invalid.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 20.—The last obstacle to prevent Chicago from collecting its back taxes was removed today by the Illinois Supreme Court which reversed a decision by County Judge Edmund Jarecki holding the 1928 and 1929 tax rolls invalid.

The high court similarly disposed of another tax case only a week ago, holding that a court of equity might attempt to force assessors to correct fraud, but that such a court did not have the power to invalidate an entire assessment roll.

Judge Jarecki had ruled the 1928 and 1929 rolls invalid, because of inequalities and frauds, especially in the omission of personal property from the assessment. His decision had made it practically impossible to collect $130,000,000 in back taxes still due for those two years. The Supreme Court gave an oral ruling today in response to appeals from the State Legislature for assistance in determining what relief should be given to Cook County taxing bodies. Justices of the court said they would write an opinion in the case later.

Four of the heirs residing in the San Francisco Bay district were named as Mrs. Grace MacQuarrie and her two children, Mrs. Vernon Sullivan and Harold MacQuarrie of Oakland, Cal., and Mrs. Henry Louis Barry of Alameda. They were said to be grandchildren of John Wendel, an uncle of Ella Wendel, who died in Baltimore.

Seattle, Wash., was given as the residence of the six other heirs, whose identity was withheld. They were said to be fifth cousins to Ella Wendel.

This testimony will be the basis for Young's defense of Frederick, who is answer to the suits has alleged that Thomson was of unsound mind; has admitted that he, Frederick, has wronged him and has asked the Court to remove other trustees of the Thomson property and make Frederick trustee instead in order to protect Thomson from wasting and squandering his estate. Thomson has been declared of unsound mind and is at present a ward of the Probate Court at Clayton.

New light was thrown by the witness on the reported attempt of Mrs. Thomson to end her life at her home in November, 1930.

Thomson has been declared of unsound mind and is at present a ward of the Probate Court at Clayton.

New light was thrown by the witness on the reported attempt of Mrs. Thomson to end her life at her home in November, 1930.

About Blonde Curly. "That was all a fake," Mrs. Johnson testified, "to throw off the deputies who were trying to serve her with papers in the marriage annulment suit that was pending."

The telephone to newspapers, said the witness, was of unsound mind; has admitted that he, Frederick, has wronged him and has asked the Court to remove other trustees of the Thomson property and make Frederick trustee instead in order to protect Thomson from wasting and squandering his estate. ANOTHER 10 PER CENT CUT IN STREET CAR MEN'S PAY PROPOSED not require full eight hours pay for eight hours. This was referred to in Clark's letter as "time paid for but not worked." Nelson said an adjustment of this matter had been discussed with the company management but not a general wage reduction.

The financial condition of the company was discussed in the letter of April 8, referred to by Clark and from which he quoted the following:

"In 1929 the gross revenue of the company was $19,703,101; in 1931 approximately $18,929,645, and the revenue for the year 1932, on the basis of receipts received for the first quarter, will not exceed $18,400,000. . . .

"In 1931, despite all economies put into effect and despite the fact that the wage reduction of 10 per cent was in effect for two and one-half months, the revenue for that year fell short of breaking even with expenses. We now face 1932 knowing that we will have approximately $2,000,000 less revenue than in 1931. Against this loss of revenue there will be for the year 1932 the obligation to pay 10 per cent lower rate of wages for the entire year, instead of merely for the two and one-half months as in 1931, which will mean approximately $600,000 less money to be disbursed, and in addition we are operating approximately 4 1/2 per cent less mileage than in 1931, which reduces by another $250,000 the number of dollars which will have to be paid out. There remains, therefore, approximately $1,850,000 which we can not incur obligation to pay out because we will not receive it."

Interest on the company's bonded indebtedness of about $24,000,000 will be due July 1, and on July 2 its $10,000,000 bank loan which has been extended from time to time will fall due.

SYRACUSE MAYOR SPENDS 9 CENTS A DAY FOR MEALS

Adopts Dietary Schedule for City's Poor to See How It Will Work Out.

By the Associated Press.
SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 20.—Mayor Roland B. Marvin sat himself down this morning to a breakfast costing a couple of cents or so. Lunch and dinner ran his grocery bill for the day to exactly 9 cents.

The Mayor, informed that health authorities had worked out a dietary schedule for the city's poor costing 9 cents a day, said he'd try it out on himself. The Mayor says he will keep at it a week, with Mrs. Marvin doing the cooking. The week's ration for an adult, which the Mayor will eat, is a varied assortment of groceries computed to contain 13,900 calories.

KILLS ADOPTED SON AND SELF TO ESCAPE 'ROUGH WORLD'

Monrovia (Cal.) Woman Leaves Note Telling of Their Financial Difficulties.

By the Associated Press.
MONROVIA, Cal., April 20.—Mrs. Agnes Holmes, 45 years old, shot and killed her 23-year-old adopted son, C. Dwight Thomas, and then herself yesterday because, according to a note, she could not bear to see him "face this rough world."

Mrs. Holmes' letter said Thomas had been forced by lack of money to end his studies at the University of Southern California. "Financial difficulties make this the best way out," she wrote. "I cannot stand to see Dwight face this rough world."

Jerked from Plane by 'Chute, Killed by Four Workmen with Wage Claims

By the Associated Press.

KILLED POLICEMAN 'JAFSIE' ROWS OUT BY ACCIDENT, SAYS HE GOT MESSAGE SLAYER TESTIFIES

Hubert Harvey Says He Was Resisting an Unwarranted Attack by Officer and Bus Conductor.

Hubert Harvey, furniture mover for whom the State expects to ask the death penalty for the murder of a policeman in an attempted motorbus holdup, took the witness stand in his own defense late today and attempted to show the shooting was all an accident, which occurred while Harvey was trying to protect himself from an unwarranted attack of the policeman and the bus conductor.

Five character witnesses preceded Harvey to the stand after the State's case was closed at 2:45 p. m. When the defendant, one of four men charged with the murder of Adolph Kreidler, who was riding home in civilian clothes after finishing duty when he was shot to death, took the witness stand. He had boarded the southbound Grand boulevard bus by mistake, he explained, thinking it would take him to a place near the River des Peres, where he was going to look for work. The time, he said, was about 11 p. m.

After two blocks, he said, he realized his mistake and as the conductor approached for his fare, he tried to stop around, to go down the steps to the lower deck and there alight. The conductor pushed him, he asserted, and after an exchange of words, began to beat Harvey with his coin receiver.

"I pulled my pistol and told him to get away," the defendant continued. "He called this party who was up in front and he came back and held my hands."

"Did you know," his attorney asked, "that this second individual was a policeman?"

"No, he didn't say anything, but he struggled with me and my revolver was accidentally discharged. The bullet hit him, but he kept on struggling just the same. Then he had hold of my right hand, trying to get the revolver, and I went off again."

Tells of Confession. Harvey then explained he had made the confession bearing his signature, because the police told him unless he did so, they would order Mrs. Morris to sit down. "Let her speak," someone shouted. The Court then ordered the woman removed. "When the usher approached a deep 'spirit' voice boomed again: 'Do not touch her until I have left her body.' Nevertheless Mrs. Morris was removed. 'I don't like such cases, said the Judge, and he began his address again. 'I hope I have not hurt the feelings of anyone unnecessarily, but as a Judge I care not for all the inaccurate or disincarnate spirits in the world and as long as I remain on the bench I shall resolutely seek to reach for the truth and shall ask the jury to do the same, even though there may be ten thousand million disincarnate spirits around us."

Friends said Mrs. Morris remained in the trance for hours. Her attorney said she would appeal.

Two-fifths of Architect's $200,000 Estate to Go to Four Children; Son Filed Contest.

A settlement of the contest over the will of Tom P. Barnett, architect, was approved today by Circuit Judge Killgren. The will was attacked by a son, Tom M. Barnett, of Indianapolis, Ind., and trial of his suit was under way last February when it was interrupted by the announcement that an agreement was near.

Barnett's will left his $200,000 estate in trust with the Mercantile Commerce Bank & Trust Co. and contemplated that five grandchildren should be the ultimate beneficiaries. Under the settlement, two-fifths of the estate is to be held in trust for the grandchildren, two-fifths is to go outright to four children, and one-fifth to Mrs. Julia McCall of Jacksonville, Ill.

Mrs. McCall is a sister of Barnett's deceased second wife. The will provided that his widow was to receive the income from four-fifths of the estate during her life and at her death might dispose in her will of a one-fifth interest. She bequeathed that interest to Mrs. McCall.

Socialist Mayor of Milwaukee Outlines His Four-Year Program

Hoan Proposes City Selling of Milk, Fuel and Other Necessaries, Six-Hour Day and Municipal Savings Bank.

By the Associated Press.
MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 20.—The Milwaukee city government starts today a four-year program of practical Socialism. Socialists are in complete control of the City Hall. A City Council of doubtful political complexion yesterday voted rousing support to Daniel W. Hoan, veteran Socialist Mayor who was beginning his seventeenth year in office.

Under the program outlined by Mayor Hoan, the city will be in the business of retailing milk and fuel, the six-hour day will be in effect in municipal employment, and in the City Hall there will be a municipal savings bank. In addition, the city legal department will study a proposal that the Federal legislation be sought to allow municipalities to issue bank notes on the same conditions as national banks.

Pay of city workers will not be lowered, except under stress of great emergency; municipal work will be done by municipal departments without employment of private contractors, and a city employee will deliver the milk, in the morning.

Mayor Hoan was specific in marking the limits to which he believes Socialism should go. "To avoid any misunderstanding, I should like to make it clear that I do not desire to have the city go into the general retail business, with the possible exception of milk and fuel," he said in his inaugural address. "My proposal is that the state of weights and measures be authorized to market goods only when necessary to prevent unreasonable holdups in prices on the necessities of life."

Immediately after the war, when food prices soared, Mayor Hoan conducted municipal sales of foodstuffs, which, it is recorded, brought down prices generally and produced profits to the city of $10,000. "All municipal governments are facing the gravest financial crisis in history," Mayor Hoan said. "Milwaukee can not rely on past laurels to solve its future financial needs. It is true that we are more solvent than other large cities, but we can not escape the obligations of restricting expenditures, except for employment of labor and preservation of public health."

Contracting Plumbers' Association stated that no firms in the association were paying $13. "Any man working for us is getting $10.50 a day, or less," the contractors' representative said. There were about 100 of the 450 union plumbers employed by the city. The reduction in the scale from $14 a day to $11.75 under the general reduction plan, is still under discussion between the union and contracting plumbers. It was stated today that about 40 plumbers working were receiving $14, but that it was hoped to reach an agreement on the reduction this week.

MAN AND WOMAN FOUND SLAIN IN LONG ISLAND FIELD

Many Stab Wounds in Body of Former — Companion's Mouth Taped—Signs of Struggle.

By the Associated Press.
GARDEN CITY, N. Y., April 20.—A young stenographer, beaten into insensibility and her mouth strapped shut with adhesive tape, was found in Garden City Park today beside the body of a married man her family said she had been "keeping company" with. She died without regaining consciousness in a hospital. The ground showed evidences that the double killing had been accomplished only after a prolonged struggle.

The man, Edward B. Brinker Jr., 35 years old, of Jackson Heights, father of a 7-year-old girl, was stabbed in the throat and chest. His companion, Miss Rose J. Welk, 24, of Flushing, was beaten on the head with a sharp instrument. Her lips were seared with adhesive tape.

A few inches from Brinker's head was a business letter which had been removed from his clothing. District Attorney Melvin N. Edwards thought it was left there by the killers as a means to identify Brinker.

Miss Welk's two sisters, with whom she resided, said the young woman left their apartment yesterday morning for her place of business in Manhattan and that they had not heard from her during the day or night. They told Edwards she had been "keeping company" with Brinker for about two years and that they were under the impression he was not married.

Late this afternoon police found Brinker's brief case two miles from the scene of the attack and beside it lay a strip of iron which seemed to be a section of a leaf from an automobile spring. Police believe it might be the weapon with which Brinker and Miss Welk were killed.

GIVE PROHIBITION A CHANCE, WOMAN DRY LEADERS ASK

ishing violators of the Constitution—these have failed.

"Would Give Legal Foothold."

"Society women masquerading in the name of temperance but working for repeal which means the legalization of the liquor power in America, wet women who claim to deplore speakeasies, but who publicly at a legislative hearing refuse to do anything to get rid of them, have failed.

"Repeal as advocated in the bills presented would mean the reopening of the breweries and distilleries. It would give the liquor traffic a legal foothold which it is now denied in every inch of United States territory."

Miss Margaret Hamilton, of the New York State Woman's Committee for Law Enforcement, said: "The assertion that drinking has increased among high school and college students is refuted by the testimony of prominent educators." She quoted Joy Elmer Morgan, editor of the Journal of the National Education Association; Alfred E. Stern, Andover, Mass.; Dr. Susan Dorsey, former Superintendent of Los Angeles City Schools, and Stanley R. Yarnall, principal of Germantown Friends School, Philadelphia.

Favors Restricting Doctors.
Miss Vida Millholland, New York member of the Woman's Committee for Law Enforcement, advocated withdrawing from the medical profession the privilege of prescribing liquor.

"The medical profession," she said, "is one of the most honorable in the world, but facts prove that some of its members are no more capable of withstanding the boot-licker's bribe than individuals of other professions."

Mrs. A. Haines Lippincott, Camden, N. J., chairman of the New Jersey Committee of the Women's National Committee for Law Enforcement, said: "New Jersey has an unsavory reputation in regard to the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment. As a life-long resident of New Jersey, I can testify that conditions as far as liquor is concerned are infinitely better than before prohibition. We citizens have just been too indifferent in the elections of officials, and too disinterested in the appointment of others who have enforcement under control, to make conditions as they should be in New Jersey."

Mrs. Richard Aldrich, New York, said "drinking brings divorce." She said she had "never known of a divorce between two drys."

Missouri Woman Heard.
Mrs. Edward Thurman Smith, on behalf of the Missouri State organization of the National Woman's Democratic Law Enforcement League, said "the people of Missouri approve of the prohibition of the legal liquor traffic both as a State and as a national policy."

Experience has shown that there is no such thing as state rights where the liquor traffic is concerned," she said, adding: "We submit that the best way to overcome the evils of the liquor traffic is not to legalize the traffic and to give to the brewers and distillers the right to advertise and exploit their wares, but rather through the teaching in the home the true nature of alcoholic beverages, pointing out the benefits of total abstinence, and through education conducted by schools and colleges with regard to its physical and psychological effect."

Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, vice president-at-large, of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, read a statement by Mrs. Ella A. Book, president, who was unable to attend. It said: "Popular clamor from law-breakers and manufacturers, some of them law-breakers, publicly financed by millionaires, of whom hope for relief from income taxes, the activities of women backed by an alleged enrollment, neither checked nor double-checked, does not justify the members of Congress in considering the submission of a repeal amendment as 'necessary.'"

Mrs. Lon Hocker, St. Louis, said the speakeasy "that has to be hunted down" is not to be compared to the "saloons that stood with open doors on all four corners" in pre-prohibition days.

Mrs. W. C. Hanson, Kansas City, Mo., representing the Supporters of the Eighteenth Amendment, prohibition organization of that city, said its purpose is "the substitution of real facts for the misleading propaganda which is confusing the minds of our people and leading to lawlessness."

Other witnesses opposing any modification of the prohibition laws included Mrs. Morris Leibert, New York, president of the National Order of the King's Daughters; Mrs. Thomas Purdy, speaking for Mrs. John F. Sippel of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. William L. Darby, Washington, of the Federated Women's Foreign Boards and the National Council of Federated Church Women.

Chairman Blaine (Rep.), Wisconsin, an opponent of prohibition, was the only Senator present.

Representatives of the Woman's National Committee for Law Enforcement today presented to President Hoover a resolution declaring they would not support "a dry candidate on a wet platform" of either party.

Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, National Chairman of the Committee, declared she read the resolution to President Hoover after entering his office at the head of about a dozen women officers of the organization.

The resolution demanded "a more rigid enforcement of the (prohibition) law with full appropriations needed for such enforcement."

It expressed appreciation for members of Congress standing "against all opposition" to the eighteenth amendment.

The resolution concluded: "Be it resolved, that we cannot accept any recommendation by either party to present a dry candidate on a wet platform since we could not trust the sincerity of any candidate willing to lend himself to such a plan."

Mrs. Peabody said she also had presented to Hoover a pamphlet prepared by her organization, listing statements made by him on the eighteenth amendment. She declared each of the statements, beginning in March, 1925 and ending last October presented "clear testimony" of the President's support of the dry law.

Declare Support for Hoover.

Mrs. Peabody said members of her delegation had declared to Mr. Hoover their support of his candidacy. "Mr. Hoover is our man," Mrs. Peabody said. "We trust him not to accept any wet or doubtful plank in the Republican platform. We trust him, but we do not trust some members of the Republican party who are seeking to insert a wet plank at the Chicago convention."

Mrs. Peabody said one portion of the resolutions read to the President referred to Ambassador Mellon, who was recently reported from London as allowing wine to be used in the United States Embassy. That section of the resolutions read:

"We respectfully suggest that Ambassadors to foreign countries be instructed that they are there to represent the interests and Government of America and are under the protection of the American Government and are under the protection of the American flag which involves their respect for our constitutional law and their observance and defense of that law while they are in office."

U. S. ACTRESS IN FRENCH JAIL

Ruth Putnam Mason Held on Bad Check Charge.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, April 20.—The American Aid Society today confirmed reports published in Paris newspapers that Ruth Putnam Mason, American actress and producer, is being held in St. Lazare prison on a charge of issuing worthless checks.
She was arrested three weeks ago and has called on the Aid Society to lend her money with which to buy cigarettes, the society said. Friends have obtained an attorney for her. The newspaper reports said members of her family and friends met in New York last Friday to consider means of helping her.

DRUGGISTS HERE URGE REPEAL OF PROHIBITION

Of 525 in Retail Association,
Only Two Vote to Retain Dry Law.

Members of the St. Louis Retail Druggists' Association, who overwhelmingly voted during the past week in favor of prohibition repeal, are "thoroughly disgusted" with the liquor trade that prohibition forces on them, declared President John J. Mueller, 3801 Lee avenue today.

"At the inception of the plan to give the liquor prescription trade to the druggist," he said, "our association went on record as absolutely opposed to it. We did not want it wished on us by the Government because we felt that it could do nothing but humiliate the profession."

"When the situation resolved itself, that is precisely what happened. The first-class drug store is bound to carry prescription liquor, yet it suffers in standing from the misdeeds of the unethical druggist."

"As far as the association is concerned, we would like prohibition tomorrow, and with it would go one of our most troublesome problems."

Of 525 members of the association who voted in a referendum on prohibition, only two voted for its retention, it was announced yesterday at the organization's meeting at the Melbourne Hotel. A total of 462 favored repeal and 61 modification.

PARTIES 'TOMBSTONE-GAZING'

Representative Black Urges Democrats to Forget Jefferson.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, April 20.—Representative Black of New York, a Tammany Democrat, yesterday in the House said he was going to advocate a double heresy—the Democrats should forget Thomas Jefferson and the Republicans should pass up Herbert Hoover.

"Neither the dead nor the living dead are going to solve our problems," he said. "Let both parties stop tombstone gazing and look ahead. An economic revolution has come upon us—and the solution does not lie in the stony faces of the dead leaders nor the hopeless faces of the living. Traditionalism must give way to realism. Our immediate problem is to master the machine. There is little economic gain in attacks on markets, as in Stock Exchange investigations—in fact there is a distinct loss. There is little gain in attacking consumers by pay cuts; in fact there is an economic loss."

TIN-CAN MUSICIANS ARRESTED

Negro Youths Playing on the Street Dismissed With Warning.

A two-man orchestra was booked for an appearance in Police Court following an open air concert, which was interrupted by a policeman.

The musicians were Ernest Turner and Thomas Ames, 18-year-old Negroes. They were syncopeating on several dozen cans and tin lids attached to a soap box at Seventh and Olive streets last night when Probationary Patrolman Walter LaTurno intervened. LaTurno booked them on a charge of playing on the street for gain, but Police Judge Blaine dismissed the youths with a warning.

BOOKMAKING CASES DROPPED

Judges Dismiss 217 Cases on Vagrancy Charges.

Two hundred and 17 alleged bookmakers arrested by detectives without warrants during the past seven days and charged with vagrancy, were dismissed today in Police Court for lack of direct evidence.

Judge Blaine, who had 173 on his docket, announced they were dismissed without having their names called after ascertaining from detectives they had no direct evidence. Judge Foster dismissed 44 cases.

'MISSING BRIDE-TO-BE' FOUND
U. S. Woman Says Engagement to Englishman Has Been Broken.
By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 20. — Vera Lucinda Privett, 19 years old, who failed to show up in London to prepare to become a bride in a society wedding, denied today that she is "missing." The man who was to have been the bridegroom, Lieut. Basil J. Karstake, sent a cablegram from London to New York police to locate her. He said she had informed him she would be in London by Easter and that he had not heard from her for weeks. "I don't see why they call me missing," Miss Privett said. "I'm here with my family. Basil and I were engaged, but it was broken off." Miss Privett, who is wealthy, works in a Fifth avenue store.

TO PUT BEER PARADE UP TO BUSINESS MEN

Mayor to Ask Them if They Wish to Join in and Finance Demonstration.

Business organizations will be asked by Mayor Miller whether they wish to take part in a beer parade, on the model of Mayor James J. Walker's proposed New York demonstration, Saturday, afternoon, May 14. They will also be asked whether they wish to contribute to the cost of the parade, which has not been officially estimated, but which was placed at $10,000 or $15,000 in the discussion held by the Board of Aldermen yesterday.

The task of organizing the parade was placed on the Mayor by the Board of Aldermen when it voted, 15 to 11, in favor of the proposed demonstration. The Mayor, who was present at the board meeting, said at first he would appoint the 15 supporters of the plan to conduct the parade and raise the money. Later he decided to send out a letter to business organizations.

The Mayor said today he had not completed the list of organizations which he would ask for opinions on the parade. He and Secretary Jules Field named offhand, these organizations, to which they said others would be added in making up the list:

Chamber of Commerce, Bar Association, Industrial Club, Medical Society, Engineering Club, Associated Industries, Associated Retailers, Merchants' Exchange, Central Trades and Labor Union, Building Trades Council, South St. Louis Business Men's Association, North St. Louis Business Men's Association, League of Women Voters, Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, and the Crusaders, men's anti-prohibition organization.

The letter to be sent to these and other bodies, the Mayor said, would contain the resolution adopted by the Aldermen, and would ask for an expression as to whether the parade should be held, and whether the organization was willing to participate in it, by taking part in the line of march and by making a subscription toward the cost.

If enough favorable replies are received, the Mayor expects to go ahead with plans for the parade. If the response is not favorable, the matter may be dropped, so far as the Mayor's office is concerned.

Mayor Miller was opposed to the parade, before the aldermen acted yesterday. Secretary Field said today that Collector Kossin and Sheriff Strodtman, with whom he has talked about the matter, did not favor the parade.

Alderman Frank Wetzel of the Sixteenth Ward, in advocating the parade at yesterday's Board meeting, said both the employed and the unemployed would take part in large numbers. The members opposing the plan said they were in favor of the return of legalized beer but that a parade would show only what is already well known concerning the prevailing sentiment here, and would be a useless expense. Two members, Aldermen Schwartz and Neu, also argued that it was not wise to encourage large mass demonstrations, for any purpose, under present conditions.

The directors of the South Broadway Merchants and Manufacturers' Association yesterday afternoon endorsed the parade and pledged moral and financial support. The secretary of the Building Trades Council, Maurice Cassidy, previously spoke in favor of it, but the labor organizations have not acted on it.

Beer Parade Suggestions by Ministers' Association.

The Christian Ministers' Association has given out several suggestions for the proposed beer parade of May 14. The suggestions, it is stated, were approved by the ministerial organization at its meeting in First Christian Church, Delmar boulevard and Pendleton avenue, Monday.

"The parade should be headed by beer candidates for office, and by the millionaires backing the Association. Against the Prohibition Amendment, riding in automobiles driven preferably by total abstainers," the ministers say. "The second division should be composed of real beer drinkers. The Salvation Army, before prohibition, gathered up hundreds of men and women drunks on Saturday night, where now it can find only a few. Nevertheless, by beating the bushes, a number of actual beer drinkers might be rounded up." The suggestions continue with hints as to the appearance and garb of the "beer-soaked tatterdemalions."

Another division of "misused wives and half-starved children" is suggested, and one made up of cripples, maimed "by those who had a glass or two before driving." A corpse, it is stated, should be carried somewhere as showing the "more than occasional result of beer drinking."

The Rev. R. A. Harmon is president of the association, and the Rev. W. F. Saye, secretary.

Girl in Male Attire Arrested.
When a policeman observed that one of two persons walking on Broadway near Morgan street early today wore high-heeled shoes with man's clothing, he arrested both for investigation. The one wearing high-heeled shoes said she was Miss Lucy Yargus, 18 years old, of Mattoon, Ill. She said she came here in a freight car from Mattoon last night with her companion, who admitted, police said, that he gave the male attire to Miss Yargus.

ART ALLIANCE AWARDS TWO SCHOLARSHIPS

Fred Dreher and Mathias Kauten Jr. Win $1000 Competition.

The Art Alliance scholarships, $1000 to be used for travel in Europe, were awarded yesterday to Fred Dreher and Mathias Kauten Jr., students at St. Louis School of Fine Arts of Washington University.

The scholarships are offered each year to first and second prize winners in a competition open to advanced students at the school. Eleven were admitted this year to the competition, which was held April 11.

Dreher's work was adjudged best and Kauten's second. They will leave for Europe together, about June 1. For four months they will be free to roam about Europe as they please.

"We expect them," said Edmund

H. Wuerpel, director of the school, "to see as much as possible, and to draw and paint as little as possible." They will, however, be advised of certain places that they should see.

Dreher is 24 years old and has been studying at the art school for four years. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Dreher, 3652 Louisiana avenue.

Kauten is 21 years old and is in his third year at the art school. His parents live at 5333 West avenue. He and Dreher are graduates of Cleveland High School.

In the competition the students were required to produce a portrait in oil or pastel, a harvest scene in either of these mediums, designed to test their ability in composition, and a charcoal figure drawing. There was also a written examination in the history and principles of art.

Slayer of Husband Gets 5 Years
FRANKFORT, Ky., April 20.—The first white woman tried here for murder since 1839 yesterday was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter and sentenced to five years' imprisonment. She was Mrs. Lena Steele of Frankfort, accused of having fatally shot her husband, Walter, last December.

HOUSE COMMITTEE TO LET PRESIDENT RE-ORGANIZE BUREAUS
Agrees He Shall Re-Arrange Work of Government, Subject to Legislative Approval.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 20.—A virtual agreement to give President Hoover power to reorganize certain parts of the Government to effect savings was reached today by a majority of the House Economy Committee.

Representative Williamson (Rep.), South Dakota, was instructed by Chairman McFie to revamp his proposal to authorize the chief executive to effect the reorganization. It is to be inserted into the $200,000,000 retrenchment omnibus bill. Mr. Hoover requested Congress to give him this power. Williamson, ranking Republican on the Expenditures Committee and author of several consolidation bills that have been enacted, sponsored the legislation.

Although details of the proposal are to be worked out, the committee indicated it planned that the President make certain changes in the Government, subject to approval by Congress.

The committee struck from the retrenchment program provisions limiting certain allowances, pensions and free hospitalization to World War veterans.

The estimated savings from the provisions eliminated amount to about $28,000,000. The vote was reported 4 to 3.

The provisions abandoned follow:

That no person having an income of $1500 (if single) and $2500 (if married) and $400 additional for each dependent, shall be entitled to any allowance or pension or free hospitalization except those suffering from combat disability.

That no person receiving free treatment or subsistence in a Government hospital or home shall receive more than $20 per month, if without dependents, or $75 per month if with dependents, the difference to be applied to the support of such home or hospital.

The determined slashing of expenditures proceeded in Congress today despite opposition by individual members and some administration officials.

Representative LaGuardia (Rep.), New York, called the present activity an "epidemic of economy," and said it was being sponsored by stock market speculators to cover up dishonesty. Impair the machinery of government and go back to "the methods of 1890."

Senator Johnson (Rep.), California, objected to the 10 per cent cuts ordered in all appropriation bills by the Senate, and so far approved in the House. He said they were arbitrarily made.

Secretary of the Interior Wilbur yesterday went over the Interior Department's appropriation bill with President Hoover. The budget bureau cut the department requests, then the House knocked off millions, and the Senate took off 10 per cent more. Wilbur spoke of "the odds and ends that are left" and called $2,000,000 reduction in Boulder Canyon Dam funds "hocus-pocus."

Congressmen soon will have a chance to vote themselves a 10 per cent pay cut, along with reductions for other Government workers.

Decision was made yesterday to cut the $10,000 annual salaries of the Senators and Representatives if the House economy committee's original proposal of an 11 per cent cut, after exempting the first $1000, were not accepted.

CHARGED WITH THE MURDER OF MOBERLY CROSSING GUARD
One of Three Original Suspects Held for Killing Washburn Man on Jan. 10.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MOBERLY, Mo., April 20.—Charges of first degree murder have been filed here against William Gilvin, 30 years old, in the killing of M. D. Hertzler, aged Washburn Railway crossing watchman, the night of Jan. 10.

Investigation into the three-month-old murder was renewed recently and carried on in secret. The murder charge was filed Saturday. Gilvin has been held in the county jail at Huntsville since April 10.

Hertzler was waylaid as he was homeward bound from work. Although robbery was thought to be the motive, $120 was found on his body. He was armed at the time.

Gilvin was one of three men arrested the night of the murder when bloodhounds brought from Columbia followed one trail from the murder scene to his home. He was held for several days, but later released on account of insufficient evidence.

Authorities today declined to disclose the new evidence connecting Gilvin with the crime. Gilvin's attorney, Jerry M. Jeffries, said his client denied all knowledge of the murder. Until Saturday, he said, Gilvin thought he was being held in connection with investigation of a series of robberies. Gilvin had no regular employment. He has been arrested and fined once for possession of liquor.

NEW CROP CONTROL PLAN WORKED OUT

'Domestic Allotment' Scheme Intended to Make Tariff Efficient on Farm Products.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 20.—A legislation program has been outlined by a group of agriculturists and farm economists for a crop control plan to make the tariff effective on wheat, cotton and tobacco consumed in the United States. The plan, known as the domestic allotment, will be introduced in Congress as soon as the legislation is drafted.

In tentative form, the plan proposes a system of allotment rights for marketing that part of wheat, cotton and tobacco processed domestically. The rights would be issued to producers and absorbed by processors. In turn, control costs would be placed on the product.

In the case of wheat, allotment rights certificates would be worth about 42 cents a bushel, the present import duty. Duties on cotton and tobacco similarly would govern their certificate values.

Many Forces Behind Plan.
St. L. Wilson of Montana Agricultural College, who was chairman of the conference, said: "Millers and other processors of wheat could use only wheat accompanied by certificates and for which they would pay approximately 42 cents a bushel. "Since wheat could be obtained in no other way except by importation, this would make the tariff of 42 cents a bushel immediately effective on all domestic consumption of wheat for food purposes."

The plan has been publicized by Prof. John Black of Harvard. Its impetus has come from the wheat pools of the Northwest, cradle of the equalization fee, but Gerard Scope of the General Electric Co.
has participated in the movement, and R. R. Rogers, New York insurance executive, was one of the enforcers, as was Henry Harriman, a vice president of the United States Chamber of Commerce and owner of a 110,000-acre Montana ranch.

The proponents hope to induce
Senator McNary and Representative
Jones, chairman of the Congressional Agricultural Committee, to introduce the bill.

No Dependence on Export.
The domestic allotment plan differs from the export debenture and equalization fee principles in that it places no dependence upon the export demand. No control of production would be attempted. Each farmer could produce as much wheat as he desired over and above his allotment rights, but he could get for it only the price paid for export wheat.

"This plan," Wilson said, "is in to make an attempt to control the price. The law of supply and demand would continue to determine the basic price. Inasmuch as any mill or processor could import wheat at the world price, plus the tariff, that would automatically become the price for the wheat."

Others attending the conference included Henry A. Wallace, of Wallace's Farmer; Lewis Clark, Omaha investment banker; Dr. A. H. Benton of the North Dakota Agricultural College; Dr. Sherman Johnson of the South Dakota Agricultural College; and W. R. Ronald,
Mitchell (S. D.) publisher.

Problems to Be Taken Up at Washington Conference Tuesday.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Agricultural troubles will be taken up around the conference table next week by Government and farm leaders, seeking with the Senate Agriculture Committee a plan of relief on which all might agree.

Chairman McNary of the committee announced the group would meet next Tuesday with agricultural and Federal officials to discuss the many relief measures.

Senator Thomas (Dem.), Oklahoma, sponsor of the conference this in the committee, introduced a revised bill intended to secure to the farmer the cost of production of that portion of his crop necessary for domestic consumption. The bill provides that the Secretary of Agriculture or Farm Board shall estimate the amount of the agricultural commodities to be needed in this country and set a minimum price, and allot the amounts that could be sold. The balance would have to be sold at the world price level. It covers wheat, cotton, wool, beef, pork, dairy and poultry products, and provides that when imports of these commodities threaten to disrupt these plans, they may be barred.

25 NIECES AND NEPHEWS NAMED IN MRS. BEYER'S WILL

Widow of Piano Manufacturer Makes Specific Bequests Totaling $108,000.

The will of Mrs. Martha Beyer, widow of Frederick Beyer, piano manufacturer, was filed in Probate Court yesterday. It makes specific bequests totaling $108,000 to 25 nieces and nephews. However, it was said the value of the estate may be considerably less than the total bequeathed, in which event it would be necessary to prorate the various bequests, which range from $2000 to $15,000.

The largest bequest, that of $15-
000, is to Miss Hedwig C. Leiser.

5063A Mardel avenue, a teacher at Hadley Vocational School. She is also named as beneficiary of one-half of the residue of the estate if any remains after payment of the other legacies. The other half goes to Frederick and Marie Leiser Volkening and Mrs. Meta Froehlich, who, the will states, aided Mrs.
Beyer, her husband and their deceased son, Theodor Beyer, in their commercial pursuits, relieving them of business "trials and tribulations"

Miss Leiser was named as executrix, with Eugene Koenig as attorney for the estate. Mrs. Beyer, who was 76 years old, died April 11. She lived at Hotel Lennox.

MEXICO ASSURES TOURISTS OF GOOD ROAD TO TAMPICO

LAREDO, Tex.—The tourist department of the Mexican Automobile Association is seeking to attract the attention of American tourists to the fact that Tampico is served by a first-class highway and should be included in their itinerary when visiting Mexico.

A letter addressed to Mexican Consul A. V. Martinez of Laredo by several cases of tourists who have been dissuaded from coming to Tampico through information given them in San Antonio, Laredo and Monterrey to the effect that the roads are bad. In some cases they have been told that "there is no road."

"We wish you would do all you can to counteract this, for we can now confidently invite anyone down here by road, for a lot of work has been done and hundreds of cars have been traveling in all directions. Many are making it in 10 hours from Monterrey and 20 hours to and from Mexico City. We have a large excursion in Mexico City just now and they all report an excellent trip.

"From Monterrey to Laredo is excellent driving, and from there on to Tampico the graded dirt road is in very excellent condition, but with little detours where culverts are still lacking. From Los Esteros to Altamira the road has been again graded. In other words, can offer tourists a passable road from Laredo to Tampico."

ASSERTS PROSPERITY DEPENDS ON FARMERS

Head of Illinois Agricultural Association Says Industry Is Realizing Situation.

By the Associated Press. MATTOON, Ill., April 20.—Optimism over the future of agriculture was expressed here last night by Earl Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural Association, in an address to more than 600 farmers and Farm Bureau leaders.

Smith said that other industries are now in much the same condition as agriculture and are beginning to realize that co-operation with the farmers will be necessary to restore prosperity.

"If for no other reason than human selfishness, American industry must help the farmer to his feet," Smith said, "there is no way for industry to come back until the buying power of the farmer is restored. After years of doing without there isn't a thing from the front gate to the farthest field but what the Western farmer needs—paint, roofs, fences and the rest. But he has to have a reasonable profit for his produce before he can buy products that will start the factories in the East."

Smith declared the recently started sales of mobile machinery to all parts of the country is a complete success. It is a complete success, he said, because it is a complete success in the eyes of the farmer, who has been waiting for a long time for a chance to get his hands on a new machine.

Also Fined a Motorist. Francis T. L. Smith, 142 St. Louis County wagon and appeal.

WOULD HAVE ONLY 40 MISSOURI COUNTIES

Committee Reports to American Engineering Council on Needs of State.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.

201-205 Kellogg Building.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Missouri's 114 counties, formed before the motor transportation era, could wisely be reduced to 40, the Missouri Committee on Engineers and Employment reported today to the American Engineering Council headquarters here. The report, one of 45 from various parts of the country, was signed by E. M. Stanton of Independence, chairman of the committee.

The report declared that the "greatest waste and greatest abuses" in American public administration was in county government.

"Perhaps the greatest single abuse," said the report, "that exists in our various governments, local, state or national, is that of taxation. Certainly there is nothing scientific about the system now prevailing in Missouri. Several questions need a complete, exhaustive and scientific study to develop something like a fair and sensible system of taxation."

County Court Terms. The Missouri investigators found that many county boards and commissions in the State were acting without responsibility to some definitely constituted departments or to a public official.

This work, the committee reported, should be assigned to some individual who would be held definitely responsible for the results.

"The county court," the report continued, "should have full and complete authority over the expenditure of all moneys, and in the larger counties it might be well to provide that the court might appoint a county manager. Several county officials now elected should be appointed by the court to bring about a higher degree of efficiency and harmony. This is especially so of such an officer as the highway engineer."

"It would probably be well if the judges were elected for a longer period. A suggestion has been made that they hold office for six years and that one be elected every two years. It is evident that considerable advantage would result from such a system."

Need for Improvements. The committee reported that Missouri was well supplied with office space, apartments and hotels but that much remained to be done in the way of public improvements such as the building of sewers, water works, streets, highways, schools, churches and recreational structures.

"There is scarcely a town or city in the State," the report said, "that is not in need of some, if not all, of these improvements, and this is especially true of our small villages. In order to keep employment on a more uniform basis, cities and towns should be prepared to do their public improvement in periods of depression."

The committee said that it had found a large amount of construction was badly needed for carrying of water to suburban communities and for the supply of small towns and villages. This work, said the committee, should be left largely to private enterprise where possible.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Down Again. THAT tottering old veteran of the sports world, the boxing game, is on the canvas again taking a count. Its outstanding local sponsors, William A. Berberich and Kid Bandy, having been taken for a $12,000 ride, have tossed in the towel.

In retiring from the promotion of boxing, Berberich, who, by the way, owns the Marquette Hotel, conducts a highly profitable trucking business and lent his support to the game because he liked it, blames his failure in part on the alleged unsympathetic and "unfair" treatment received at the hands of the State Boxing Commission, Seneca C. Taylor.

Too many passes under the commission mandate, date allotments that detracted from the drawing power of his shows and favoritism shown to wrestling over boxing form the ground-work of his complaints.

There is no doubt that Berberich and his associates, rightfully or not, feel a deep resentment at the treatment they claim to have received. Their complaints already have been taken to the Governor and they will be before him again late this month, when a hearing of the commission and its critics has been called by the State's chief executive.

About Those Passes. COMMISSIONER TAYLOR, who has a ready explanation of all the allegations made against his conduct of his office, belittles the 400-pass list as a factor in hurting boxing. He declares it was the free use of passes that helped build up the wrestling game and that he advocated the same plan for helping boxing along.

It is a fact that, if memory serves us, for one wrestling show of Tom Packs, more than 1000 passes were issued, in addition to some 2000 "alips" on which reserved seats could be procured at 50 and 75 cents. Yet Packs has prospered and his wrestling game has grown, Taylor says, because of this plan.

"I would like to see boxing prosper, but its promoters have been stubborn and refused to take advice," Commissioner Taylor observed. "I therefore let them absolutely alone, although they committed many petty violations of the rules. If the fights were good, they would prosper. But fans will not attend indifferent or inferior performances long."

"The 40 passes I get I distribute to persons who can help the game or lend dignity to it. There are no political passes to be patched up with them. I am not in politics."

"It will be glad at any time to discuss the situation with the Governor and show him just exactly what is the situation in the boxing world with regard to passes or any other phase of my handling of the office."

He Can Have It. AND, Bo, being Boxing Commissioner, is no sinecure. It means work every day, with

SWETONIC ALLOWS ONLY THREE BLOWS, FIRST IN THE EIGHTH

By J. Roy Stockton.

PITTSBURG, April 20.—The world champion Cardinals opened the National League season here this afternoon auspiciously by losing to the Pittsburgh Pirates in the first game of a series of four. The defeat increased the Redbirds' losing streak to five games.

The score was 7 to 0. Steve Swetonic let the Cardinals down with only three hits. He held them hitless for seven innings. In the eighth, Watkins singled to right, after two outs, for the first hit of the game. Bottomley and Wilson hit singles in the ninth.

Before the game the players, led by a band, marched to the flagpole, where the National flag was unfurled. A bugler then blew taps as the flag was lowered to half-mast out of respect to the memory of Barney Dreyfuss, the president of the Pittsburgh, who died in February.

FOUR LIE ON FLOOR IN $180 STORE ROBBERY

Armed Man Empties Easton Av. Safe; 'Shorts' Burglar Appears Three Times.

Marcus Nieman, proprietor of a hardware store at 4111 Easton avenue, and three customers were forced to lie on the floor in a rear room last night when an armed robber stole $450 from the cash register and a safe. The customers, two men and a woman, were not molested.

Driving near the Triple A golf course in Forest Park, William LaVie, 3857 Shandooch avenue, was forced to the curb by two robbers in another automobile. He was robbed of $35 and two rings valued at $225.

Three appearances of the "shorts" burglar, a young man wearing only underclothing, were reported early today. Sidney Hartmann, 5774 Westminster place, a son of Circuit Judge Hartmann, saw the man crawling on the floor in his bedroom. Hartmann turned on the lights and attempted to seize the intruder but could not prevent his escape through an open window. Nothing was taken. Mrs. Isidore Mathes, 5521 Waterman avenue, was awakened a short time later when the man touched her arm. She screamed and he fled through a window, taking nothing.

An earlier visit by the burglar to the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Wolfson, 6317 Southwood avenue, Clayton, was reported. They saw the man as he ran out of their maid's room after the maid screamed. His escape was made by way of a window.

The Rev. Edward LaRue, pastor of Salem Methodist Church, Kingshighway and Cote Brillante avenue, reported to police yesterday that the church safe had been broken open Monday night by burglars who scattered papers that were in it but obtained no loot.

George True, a city water department employee, reported to a policeman at Jefferson avenue and Stoddard street last night that he had been abducted yesterday afternoon at Vandeventer and McRee avenues by two men who robbed him of $52 and then drove with him to St. Charles and back to the city. The officers report they searched him and found $12 in his right shoe, after which he admitted he had lost the $52 in a dice game and invented the story of the robbery to avoid telling his wife the truth of the loss.

BUREAU FINDS WORK FOR 149 PERSONS IN TWO WEEKS

Citizens' Committee Makes New Appeal for Discarded Clothing.

Spring cleaning in advance of the campaign being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce enabled the Citizens' Committee Employment Bureau to find jobs for 149 persons in the first half of April, Leo McCarthy, director of the bureau, said yesterday in a radio talk.

McCarthy said work was found for 23 painters, 37 paper hangers, 49 gardeners, 22 wall washers and 12 miscellaneous workers. The services of the bureau, at 2023 Washington avenue, may be obtained by telephoning Central 6900.

Mrs. George H. Berger, who spoke over station KWK, urged her listeners to clean out closets and trunks and to send unused clothing to the Citizens' Committee Clothing Bureau at 2218 Locust street. Contributions will be collected if donors telephone Central 3565.

PRIEST, TWO STUDENTS CLIMB ALASKAN PEAK

Make Winter Ascent of Katmai Volcano—Travel Over Moving Ice Blocks.

By the Associated Press.
SEWARD, Alaska, April 20.—A special dispatch to the Seward Gateway from Chignik on the Alaska peninsula tells of a new exploit of the Rev. Bernard Hubbard, known as the glaciers priest.

The dispatch says Father Hubbard, professor of geology at Santa Clara University, California, with two companions climbed Katmai volcano across from Kodiak Island. It was the first time the peak has been climbed in winter.

Father Hubbard's party landed on Katmai Beach March 24. Kenneth Chisholm and Jack Morton, students at the University, were his companions.

The trip almost ended in disaster because of the lateness in starting. The party was held up three weeks waiting for a dog team from the interior. The Katmai River ice broke suddenly and the explorers pulled their sled and supplies over moving ice blocks, floundering waist deep in the icy water while struggling back to Shikoff Strait.

Most of the food was lost but all photographic and scientific data was saved. The boat which was supposed to call for the did not arrive. Two weeks later the crew of the motorship Polar Bear saw smoke signals of the marooned party on Katmai Beach and rescued the men and dogs.

With no game in the desolate region around Katmai Beach, the men were forced to eat dog meat and shell fish. They were in a weakened condition from the unusual diet.

FATHER DEMPSEY'S GUESTS DECREASING IN NUMBERS

Many Have Gone to Country and Others Find Odd Jobs in City.

The steadily decreasing numbers of unemployed men applying for food at Father "Tim" Dempsey's relief station at 1209 North Sixth street is attributed by him to the fact that many of the men have gone to the country and others are working at odd jobs around the city.

Only 2430 were served yesterday, compared with 8605 St. Patrick's day. Milk is still being distributed to poor families at the rate of 160 quarts daily. Negroes sheltered at the Home for Colored Men, 1127 North Sixth street, now number more than 300, which is about as many as during the cold weather.

ACQUITTED IN CHICAGO RYOT 12 Alleged Reds Freed; Judge Denounces Jury.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 20.—Twelve alleged communists, charged with participating in a riot March 12 on Michigan boulevard near the Chicago Tribune Tower, were acquitted last night by a jury in Municipal Court after three hours' deliberation.

Defense attorneys attributed actions of the defendants to lack of employment and asked the jurors "to put yourself in the place of the unemployed who took part in the riot." Judge Thomas A. Green denounced the jury for its verdict and discharged it from further duty in his court. He said the verdict was not in keeping with the evidence.

'ECONOMIC WORLD WAR STILL GOING ON'
Britain's Failure to Provide for Payment in Budget Causes Speech—Lewis Joins in Attack.
By CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, April 20.—Anti-cancellation sentiment has flared up again in the Senate upon receipt of news from London that the British budget just submitted to Parliament carries no provision for payments on the war debt owed by Britain to the United States.
Vigorous speeches against cancellation came from Senators Borah (Rep.), Idaho, and Lewis (Dem.), Illinois, while Senator Reed (Rep.), Pennsylvania, issued a statement that he was "perfectly certain that no responsible American official has given our British friends any reason to think that these payments will not be expected to be made."
Borah and Lewis both assailed the moratorium plan advanced by former Gov. Alfred E. Smith at the recent Jefferson day rally of Democrats at the capital.
Debt Payment in Budget.
The discussion directed attention to the fact that the budget for the fiscal year 1933 now before Congress carries an asset of $270,000,000 scheduled to be received from foreign nations on the war debt. This includes $195,000,000 in interest payments and $75,000,000 in payments on the principal.
Manifestly, if the foreign nations do not pay—and the belief is general that they will not—the budget under present plans, though balanced on paper, will actually be unbalanced to the extent of $270,000,000.
Borah's speech was an exhaustive summing up of the whole war debt problem from the anticancellation point of view.
"It has been proposed again," he said, "that the debt owing to the United States should be canceled in the interest of world economic recovery. It is contended that the debts impede economic recovery, and that the United States, by insisting upon those debts being paid, embarrasses the progress which would otherwise be made in economic affairs."
Recalls Former Arguments.
"It is well to recall that we once made a reduction of these debts. We did so upon the argument that it was in the interest of financial and economic betterment of world conditions. If we should turn back to the debates upon that subject, we should find the argument advanced that reductions were essential to the economic and financial progress and recovery of the world. But, while we made a reduction, and a very large one, it did not have the desired effect. The recovery did not take place. The improvement was not at hand."
"It was by reason of the fact, in my judgment, that the policies and programs obtaining in Europe made recovery impossible. It is my contention now that although we should cancel these debts in their entirety, if the policies now obtaining in Europe and the programs now offered to the world from that continent should continue to obtain, the cancellation of the debts would not have the slightest effect upon the economic recovery of the world. Economic recovery calls for a broader and more drastic program than cancellation of debts due the United States."
"These debts are debts owing to the American taxpayers. I have no doubt that the American taxpayer looks upon them as an economic factor and that if a program could be offered which would assure the betterment of world conditions, the opening of markets and restoration of business in a general way, the American taxpayer would be perfectly sympathetic in the consideration of such a proposition. But no such proposition has ever been offered."
Putting Burden on Taxpayer.
The propositions made at all times result in unloading the entire burden upon the American taxpayer without any assurance that there will be an improvement of economic conditions through the world. The things which would make economic recovery are always omitted.
The settlements which were made years ago resulted in reductions or in cancellations to the extent to which I am now going to give the figures. The figures have been given to the world in

GENEVA FOR REDUCTION OF ARMS TO SAFETY LIMIT

Conference Approves Proposal in Principle, Soviet Delegate Alone Dissenting—Secretary Stimson Active.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, April 20.—The world disarmament conference approved today the principle of reduction of armaments "to the lowest point consistent with national safety and the enforcement by common action of international obligations."

Approval of the proposal in principle was opposed only by Maxim Litvinoff, head of the Soviet delegation. Litvinoff said the action was not related to any effort to secure genuine disarmament.

Following the American and Italian proposals last week, Sir John Simon, British Foreign Minister, proposed a resolution endorsing the principle of "qualitative" disarmament, that is, the prohibition of certain classes and types of weapons.

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, who attended yesterday, received W. W. Taft, Chinese spokesman, today and entertained Sir John Simon at lunch.

Sir John's proposal for an endorsement of "qualitative" disarmament was supported by Ambassador Noddy for Germany, and Foreign Minister Grandi for Italy.

This left the Americans, the British, the Italians and the Germans presenting a solid front in favor of abolishing certain aggressive weapons, which is opposed by France. The discussion was adjourned until tomorrow.

The conference had previously approved, as a general principle, a proposal that disarmament be accomplished by stages with successive revisions, "after this conference has taken a first decisive step by general reduction to the lowest possible level."

During the afternoon Stimson received Charles to Water and Thomas R. Wilford, South African and New Zealand representatives, who are outstanding advocates of a strong policy toward Japan in the Chinese-Japanese conflict.

The Chinese-Japanese question also was discussed by Stimson in a half-hour conversation at the league secretariat with Foreign Minister Paul Hymans of Belgium and Sir John Simon.

Stimson entertained Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy at lunch yesterday and with Chancellor Heinrich Brüning of Germany.

With them he talked disarmament. Both Signor Grandi and Dr. Brüning have indicated their anxiety about the success of the present meeting as essential preparation for a useful conference at Lausanne, where reparations are to be discussed.

different amounts, but I believe the figures which I am now offering to the Senate are correct. I have taken some trouble to have them checked and rechecked.

Six Billion Canceled. "We canceled the obligations of Belgium to the extent of $3.5 per cent, of Czechoslovakia 25.1 per cent, of France 52.8 per cent, of Great Britain 19.7 per cent, of Italy 75.4 per cent, of Poland 19.5 per cent, of Rumania 25.1 per cent, and of Yugoslavia 49.7 per cent," in other words, after the close of the World War, foreign governments were indebted to the United States, in round numbers, in the sum of $12,000,000,000. But when the debt was adjusted to the completed then present value of the debt was $5,800,000,000, being a cancellation of over $6,000,000,000. This cancellation was made in the interest of a better economic situation in Europe.

In the interest of financial recovery and of economic solidarity throughout Europe. Those things did not happen. Let us not be led into further cancellation upon a one-sided, incomplete, and unfair program."

Borah said that the recent proposal of a "distinguished political leader" that we forget the debt for 20 years was a cancellation scheme. As to Smith's suggestion of a cut in the debts amounting to 25 per cent of the value of the goods purchased from us by the debtors, he said examination show that if the nations in question continued to buy from us at the same average rate as for the last few years, the result would be the extinguishment of the debt in 20 years. He said there was nothing in the Smith proposal to stipulate trade with the United States or to open new markets to American products.

Private Creditors Would Benefit. "There is, however," he continued, "a class of people who would benefit by acceptance of the proposal. We have loaned abroad since 1915 some $17,000,000,000. The largest portion of that sum was loaned in Europe. Undoubtedly if the public debts were forgotten for 20 years the private creditors would be greatly advantaged. The American taxpayer would be subordinated to the interests of the private debtors. These claimants could clean up in 20 years."

"I have no desire to see those holding private claims lose, but it is not fair or just to ask that all the taxpayers surrender their right to the collection of these debts in order that a very few of the taxpayers may have the advantage of such action."

"There is no reason to assume that either Great Britain or France is unable to meet its obligations, and, that being true, there would be nothing gained upon the part of the American taxpayers by canceling $25,000,000,000 of the debts due us for every $100,000,000 of purchases made in this country, when those foreign nations are under obligation to make no greater purchases in order to secure the cancellation than they have been making heretofore."

Debt a Small Factor. "How much of the budgets of European countries are made up of the debts due the United States? In the budget of Belgium the percentage of our debt is 2.45; in the budget of Great Britain, 3.75; Italy, 1.41 per cent; France, 2.65 per cent. In other words, the budgets of those nations when considered as a whole show that debts are too slight to justify the claim that they are the source of the trouble in Europe. They are a small factor."

"But, not one dollar of any of those percentages, even small as they are, comes out of France, of England, and of Italy, or of the other nations of which we may speak. The amounts have been collected from Germany, and I venture

TAX ON TEA, BEER IN ENGLISH BUDGET ANGRERS LABORITES

Conservative Says Program Is 'Disappointing,' but Finds It 'In Some Respects Hopeful.'

LLOYD GEORGE'S SON DECLARES AGAINST IT

Other Free Trade Liberals, However, Are 'Thankful for Small Mercies' and Commend Plan.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 20.—Majority opinion on the National Government's budget, introduced in the House of Commons yesterday, by Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, appeared today summed up in the words of a prominent Conservative industrialist who described it as "deeply disappointing, but not disheartening; inconclusive, but in some respects hopeful."

Liberal opinion, on the whole, treated the budget favorably, although Maj. Gwynn Lloyd George, son of the former leader of the party, described it as one of the worst budgets in recent years.

Other free trade Liberals expressed themselves as "thankful for small mercies," and commended the impartiality of the Chancellor in granting no one relief because he could not ameliorate the condition of the unemployed and other chief sufferers from the Government economy program.

Laborites to Hold Meeting. Chamberlain's budget group was confined to disapproval of the proposed tax on tea, which James Maxton, fiery left-wing member, described as worse than the continued extra tax on beer.

The Laborites will hold a meeting tomorrow to discuss the budget. George Lansbury, Laborite leader, speaking apparently for himself rather than for his party, said the budget marked the failure of the National Government and was "a terrible message of hopelessness to the unemployed, destitute and hard-pressed."

Brewers, beer drinkers and income taxpayers toward the East indignation that their lot was not made easier. The brewers said continuation of the extra tax on their product was bad, not only for business but for revenue as well, in that it reduced consumption to a point where revenue from the added tax fell below that obtained before the levy was boosted.

Industries Complain. Officers of the Federation of British Industries complained vigorously against what they described as the absence of real relief for industry and demanded drastic reductions in national expenditures which they held essential to the recovery of trade.

Sugar interests said new colonial preferences proposed in the budget would not affect the price in Great Britain, but one wholesale tea company said a duty on that product would mean an immediate jump in the price.

There were rumors in parliamentary quarters that an acute divergence of opinion among Cabinet members induced Chamberlain to alter materially his budget intentions at the last moment. The disagreement was said to have been chiefly concerned with proposed additional import duties and reduction of the beer tax. The hostility of free trade members of the Government was given as the reason for the proposed new tariffs having been restricted so as not to yield more than $5,000,000 ($19,350,000).

Viscount Snowden of Ickneshaw, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, appeared in the reports as a strenuous opponent to relief of the beer trade, insisting that lowering of the beer tax would be intolerable if tea were to be taxed.

ST. SOPHIA MOSAICS, HIDDEN SINCE 1453, BEING UNCOVERED

Golden Byzantine Crosses Found Under Whitewash Over One of Interior Doors.

By the Associated Press.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, April 20.—The first of the Christian mosaics, long covered over with whitewash in the Mosque of St. Sophia, were brought to light again yesterday.

Golden Byzantine crosses were disclosed in the wall over one of the interior doors. The restoration work is being done by the Byzantine Institute of America, under direction of Prof. Thomas Whittemore of Boston, with the consent of President Mustafa Kemal of Turkey. Though the discoveries thus far are not important, the buried St. Sophia mosaics are expected to be among the finest in the world.

St. Sophia's, a Mohammedan mosque since the fall of Constantinople to the Turks in 1453, was originally a Christian church, started in 532 A. D. by the Emperor Justinian. The present massive structure replaced a previous one built by Constantine and was designed to be "greater than any since the time of Adam and any time to come." The original dome fell in 558 during an earthquake. Extensive repairs have been made from time to time. When the Mohammedan Turks stormed Constantinople they seized the church and whitewashed over its accumulated art treasures because of the Mohammedan injunction against images of any kind.

5200-YEAR-OLD TOMB OPENED IN NILE VALLEY

Bodies of Two Royal Women Found, One Wearing 50-Piece Necklace.

By the Associated Press.

CAIRO, Egypt, April 20.—The bodies of two royal women, buried 5200 years ago, have been unearthed in the depths of the Giza Plateau, near the Pyramids. On opening one of the coffins the excavators, who are members of the Egyptian University's archaeological expedition, found that it contained the body of a woman about 25, richly adorned with jewels.

She was lying on her back with her feet turned toward the East. Above the head was a golden fillet, 60 centimeters long (about 24 inches). Around the neck was a gold necklace composed of 50 pieces.

The left wrist of the second body, which is thought to be that of one of the women of the fourth dynasty, bore a bracelet of fine gold threads on which a medium-sized cornelian was set.

This woman wore a perfectly-cut tunic embroidered with falcon heads, which was not unlike the styles worn today by European and American women.

American archaeologists said it is extremely rare to find an intact old empire tomb, for almost all have been pillaged since the Pharaohs and their royal consorts ruled the region of the Nile.

HINES TO GIVE TESTIMONY AGAINST BONUS PAYMENT

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Brigadier-General Frank T. Hines, Administrator of Veterans' Affairs, went before the House Ways and Means Committee today to present the administration's opposition to full payment of the bonus.

Col. Benjamin F. Castle of New York City, who identified himself as spokesman for the ex-service men's Committee for Reducing the Cost of Peace, said he opposed the Patman cash payment bill. "I represent any one's coming before this committee and saying he speaks for 4,000,000 veterans. There are many veterans in the United States who are not organized and if they could be heard they would say they don't favor the bonus."

Castle said World War veterans are "badly led by a lot of self-appointed political leaders" in seeking a bonus payment.

Capt. Knowlton Durham, another independent veteran who accompanied Castle, said "if Congress had intended making a cash payment before 1945, it would have written the law differently."

CHINESE SEIZED BY JAPANESE AS TRAIN WRECKERS

Arrest of Head of Railway Police Follows Disaster in Which 14 Were Killed, 50 Hurt.

By the Associated Press.

HARBIN, Manchuria, April 20.—The arrest of Kao Chang-chun, Chinese chief of the Chinese Eastern Railway police and detective bureau, by Japanese gendarmes on charges of leading a plot that caused the wreck of a Japanese troop train near here on March 12 is reported by the Rengo News Agency.

The Rengo Agency says Kao Chang-chun is a graduate of a Russian military school closely associated with Soviet employees of the railway, many of whom were arrested in connection with the plot, although the majority of those arrested were Chinese.

Kao Chang-chun, with several alleged accomplices, will be taken to Changchun and tried by authorities of the new federated Manchurian state of Manchoukuo, the report says.

A general strike on the Chinese Eastern Railway, which was expected to begin today, failed to materialize. Workers remained at their posts and normal service was maintained. The strike had been expected as a protest against the arrest of 40 employees of the line in connection with the train wreck.

Fourteen Japanese soldiers were killed and more than 50 injured in the wreck. The Chinese Eastern Railway is owned jointly by China and Soviet Russia.

Those Land Bank Farms.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE Federal Land Bank of St. Louis reports it has sold four times as many farms since last August as in the similar period of 1930-31, and that 40 per cent of the purchasers were city residents (presumably unemployed industrial workers who used their savings to make the "down" payment).

One wonders what has become of the families driven off those lands because they were unable to keep up the Land Bank payments.

Assuming that the new "owners" begin with sufficient clothes, bedding, etc., are prepared to forego the conveniences and facilities that make living tolerable, and have no crop failures, it is probable that they will be able to keep alive and even add to overproduction with a surplus.

But picture the County Tax Collector and the cashier of the Federal Land Bank lifting over their counters squawking chickens, bawling calves, 5-cent-a-dozen eggs, sacks of potatoes, and giving the farmers receipts for their overpaying their taxes and Land Bank interest! Those boys demand payment in real money. Is it probable that the new farmers will be better able to obtain it than the foreclosed victims who preceded them? Not unless the demand for land products increases and prices rise, which is not likely until the industrial centers are prosperous again—and there goes another of those creatures we hear so much about "wandering cities," revolving madly, arriving nowhere and leaving hydrophobia in its wake.

Mr. Hay and the Byrd Plan.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I AM delighted to learn that Mr. Hay is inclined to approve the Byrd plan for a referendum on the liquor question. I sincerely hope he does approve.

I am a dry, but I believe the agitation over the question has reached such a stage that we cannot have the right kind of acceptance of this policy until there has been some direct action on it by the people.

Mr. Hay has made a great name for himself for a man of Vaudeville and stage. His approval of this plan would give further evidence of those qualities. He is a loyal dry and he is also a fair dry. I say hurray for Byrd and Hay!

DR. LAURA N. CHAPPELL.

Ex-Gov. Smith's Proposal.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

EX-GOV. SMITH'S proposal for the alleviation of the situation of the foreign debt problem is perfect theory but ridiculous practicality. It is in substance another one of those "rob-Peter-to-pay-Paul" ideas. By offering to reduce debts in return for an increase in purchases of our goods, he bribes the foreign countries to overlook their shelves for the sole purpose of evading a debt.

Smith's plan can only create chicanery in our commercial relations and its final result is to wreck the market. Some foreign countries would buy a large amount of goods just for the sake of reducing their indebtedness to us and then dump the surplus upon the market. This would reduce the market value of our goods and we would have to double our exports to offset the reduced values. The ultimate end of the Smith plan would mean that we would eventually have to give away merchandise, free of charge to all nations buying from us.

We might as well cancel all debts. It is a more logical and sounder economic procedure. Further, it is not a new idea. It is done every day in business.

A Case of Professional Jealousy.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

ARDINAL O'CONNELL'S attack on a certain "individual from Michigan" seems to be purely a case of "professional jealousy." Far be it from him to let a poor parish priest of his same faith become more known and popular than the eminent Cardinal. Perhaps the Cardinal would change his views if he read the "Rerum Novarum" encyclical of Pope Leo XIII.

Too bad we of the middle class haven't a few laymen among us with the spirit and daring of the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin.

Will Wage Cuts Be Nullified?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

NOW that the building trades craftsmen have accepted a wage cut in general, it will be of interest to the public at large to watch the prices of materials.

Some 10 years ago, several trades voluntarily cut their wages in order to stimulate the building industry. Did this cut in wages help the situation? It did not, for very soon after they accepted the cut, building materials went up in price, thus nullifying the efforts of labor to revive the industry.

Will this again be the case? Will labor again be exploited?

ALL HAIL THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN!

In accepting the recommendation of its Transportation Committee for appointment of a new committee of three Aldermen to join with the Board of Estimate and Apportionment in further study of plans for a municipally owned transit system, the Board of Aldermen yesterday took another decisive step toward the way out of this difficult matter.

As has been related, the report accepted yesterday rejects further consideration of a franchise for a private operating company and favors public ownership as the only way to give the city a modern, unified mass transportation system adequate for present needs and future growth.

The new committee will work out a practical application of the city's new policy. It will decide upon the types of vehicles to be used, the advisability of purchasing present street car and bus systems, or parts of them, if they can be obtained at a satisfactory cost, and other matters of detail. The new committee will also have power to consider some better plan if such can be found.

Thus the community emerges from the impasse created by the long and desperate attempts to make good the private deal of exploiters.

With an inadequate transportation system, and with unsatisfactory access to the congested downtown district, two precious years were wasted by the city's packed Transportation Survey Commission, which could not do in two years what the Board of Aldermen's special committee has been able to do in a few months.

There should not be from this time on any obstacle to the development of such a transportation system as St. Louis sorely needs. In availing itself of the services of Cleveland A. Newton, who has approached the problem from the disinterested viewpoint of the public interest, the aldermanic committee illustrated the difference between action by a public-spirited body and one interested only in private ends.

The Transportation Survey Commission, which preceded it, also retained, at the public's expense, a so-called transportation expert, but he got nowhere, because, unlike Mr. Newton, he was trying to serve a selfish interest.

Happily, that battle is over, and the people have won it. They owe a great debt of gratitude to President Neun and the Board of Aldermen. These elected representatives of the people have delivered the community from the clutches of profiteers and faced it toward progress.

We are to have freedom and home rule. No more franchises. No more debauchery.

The new committee entirely consists of elected representatives of the people. It is not packed. Its responsibility rests where all such responsibility should be, with the people of St. Louis.

The Post-Dispatch, which has consistently fought the franchise racket, congratulates the Board of Aldermen.

"PUSSYFOOT" BREAKS SILENCE.

"Pussyfoot" Johnson has reappeared on the front page, after a long absence. He belongs to the elder statesmen of the dries, associated in the leadership of the movement with the late Wayne Wheeler, a practical politician, unhampered by any Quixotic notion or scruple, and honest enough, when the legal victory was won and the hour struck for relating his memoirs, to tell it frankly. He lost an eye in the service, and accepted it in good sportsmanship as one of the fortunes of war. He accepts the present situation in the same spirit, and, as a competent observer of events, declares if Congress by a two-thirds vote chooses to submit a repeal amendment, "I see no reason why it should not do so"; again, "If the people really wish to return this liquor question to the states . . . they will do it in spite of earthquakes and high water." A realist, a good fighter, a crusader whom everybody, wet or dry, can cordially salute.

THE TAXPAYER AT GENEVA.

Despite the small expectations of it, the Geneva Conference finds itself impelled by necessity toward its goal.

The French opened the meeting with a proposal that the nations build and use only airplanes unsuited to military purposes.

Spain followed with a plan to cut down navies and set up international control of munitions.

The United States came out for abolition of submarines, restriction of tanks and prevention of bacteriological warfare.

Italy has announced its willingness to junk warships, artillery, bombing aircraft and chemical weapons.

Germany invites the rest of the nations to go as far as it will.

Russia seeks "universal and total disarmament." Turkey wants offensive weapons prohibited. Norway an international ban on instruments of aggression and Jugo-Slavia the abolition of long-distance-firing warships.

Portugal is after budgetary limitation, Finland the demilitarization of frontiers, Rumania the elimination of incitement to war from school books.

Poland and Mexico say they will cut down to only enough arms to preserve internal order; China, Bolivia, Lithuania, Chile, South Africa and others have taken similar pledges.

Meanwhile, taxpayers in every country clamor for relief from the great burden of armament, and Geneva feels that it cannot hope to go home without having done something about it.

AMBROSE BIERCE AGAIN.

Reports that Col. Fawcett is alive in the Brazilian jungle have revived speculation about what became of Ambrose Bierce. Indeed, a dispatch from Buenos Aires has it that the white man said to be living with savages is Bierce and not the British explorer. That Bierce is still alive is possible, but far from probable. The Dictionary of American Biography, which chronicles only the dead, includes him. Born in a log cabin on Horse Cave Creek, Ohio, June 24, 1842, this mysterious figure in American letters would be almost 90 now. Furthermore, circumstances of his departure argue against his survival. Settling his affairs in 1913, he excused himself from his few friends and warily allowed himself to be swallowed up in war-torn Mexico. The same wit and appreciation of the climatic which distinguished his short stories, marked his farewell. "Good-by," he wrote. "If you hear of my being stood up against a Mexican wall and shot to rags, please know that I think it beats old age, diseases and falling down the cellar stairs." If the future holds a postlude to his strange career, in all likelihood it will tell us, not that he is a nonagenarian still alive, but how he died fighting with the rebel, Villa. That would have been a true Biercean ending.

SCIENTIFIC FARM RELIEF.

After some highly unscientific farm relief, it is encouraging to see nature devising some scientific farm relief.

Wheat is up about 15 cents a bushel as the result of natural conditions in some of the wheat-producing nations. At the time our own Farm Board undertook to do something about wheat, the world was producing more wheat than it could consume. This condition continued for several years. Only this year is there a reversion to the opposite. Wheat is not so plentiful.

Because of unfavorable conditions, chiefly dry weather, it is estimated that there will be a reduction of 250,000,000 bushels this year in the winter wheat belt of the United States, chiefly Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Texas and Colorado. George S. Milnor, head of the Grain Stabilization Corporation, now traveling in Europe for the Farm Board, predicts that the end of the wheat crisis is in sight. Much of Europe is in need of wheat, notably France, Italy, Germany, Holland, Belgium and Greece. The Spanish Government has ordered immediate importation of 1,340,000 bushels of wheat. The Italian Government has raised the allowance of foreign wheat to 25 per cent, its third increase this season. European crops are below normal.

Very much the same thing is true of corn. In the Argentine, which is one of the great corn countries, the official estimate for this year is 263,000,000 bushels, against 414,000,000 bushels last year. Drought and locusts are blamed for the decrease. Even volcanic ash is said to be hurting the crop. For the third successive season, there is a bad condition of moisture this year in all of our great corn states, where much of the seed is being planted in virtual dust.

The law of supply and demand controls the grain markets. Had nature co-operated at the time the Farm Board entered the field, we would be in the clutches now of the fallacy that the operations of the board increased grain prices. Fortunately, we are not suffering from that delusion.

AN INTERNATIONAL RADIO FORUM.

While the radio technicians are delighting listeners with more efficient sets, and by arranging broadcasts from moving trains, submerged submarines, zooming airplanes and other difficult spots, progress is being made in the cultural development of radio as well. The latest plan to use radio's vast potentialities is to forward world relations by means of an international forum. Programs on public questions are being exchanged between Europe and America by a non-political, non-commercial organization, according to the proposal of the sponsor, Ira Nelson Morris, former American Minister to Sweden. Outstanding speakers on both sides of the Atlantic will take part in the program, being carried by a nation-wide chain in this country.

The broadcasts from the Geneva conference and other addresses by remote control have been enlightening to American audiences, and have been appreciated. A series of the kind now begun will do much to bind the nations closer together. However, the services of the radio engineer as well as of the program director will be required to make the scheme thoroughly successful. Too many of the current trans-Atlantic broadcasts are marred by roarings and cracklings of static from the moment the foreign-accented voice first gives its greeting, "Allo, America." Local broadcasting now is comparatively free from such interference. The great radio audience will be more responsive to ambitious undertakings like the international forum when radio's inventors make it possible to bring voices from overseas without this annoying disturbance.

VILLAINS OR PATRIOTS?

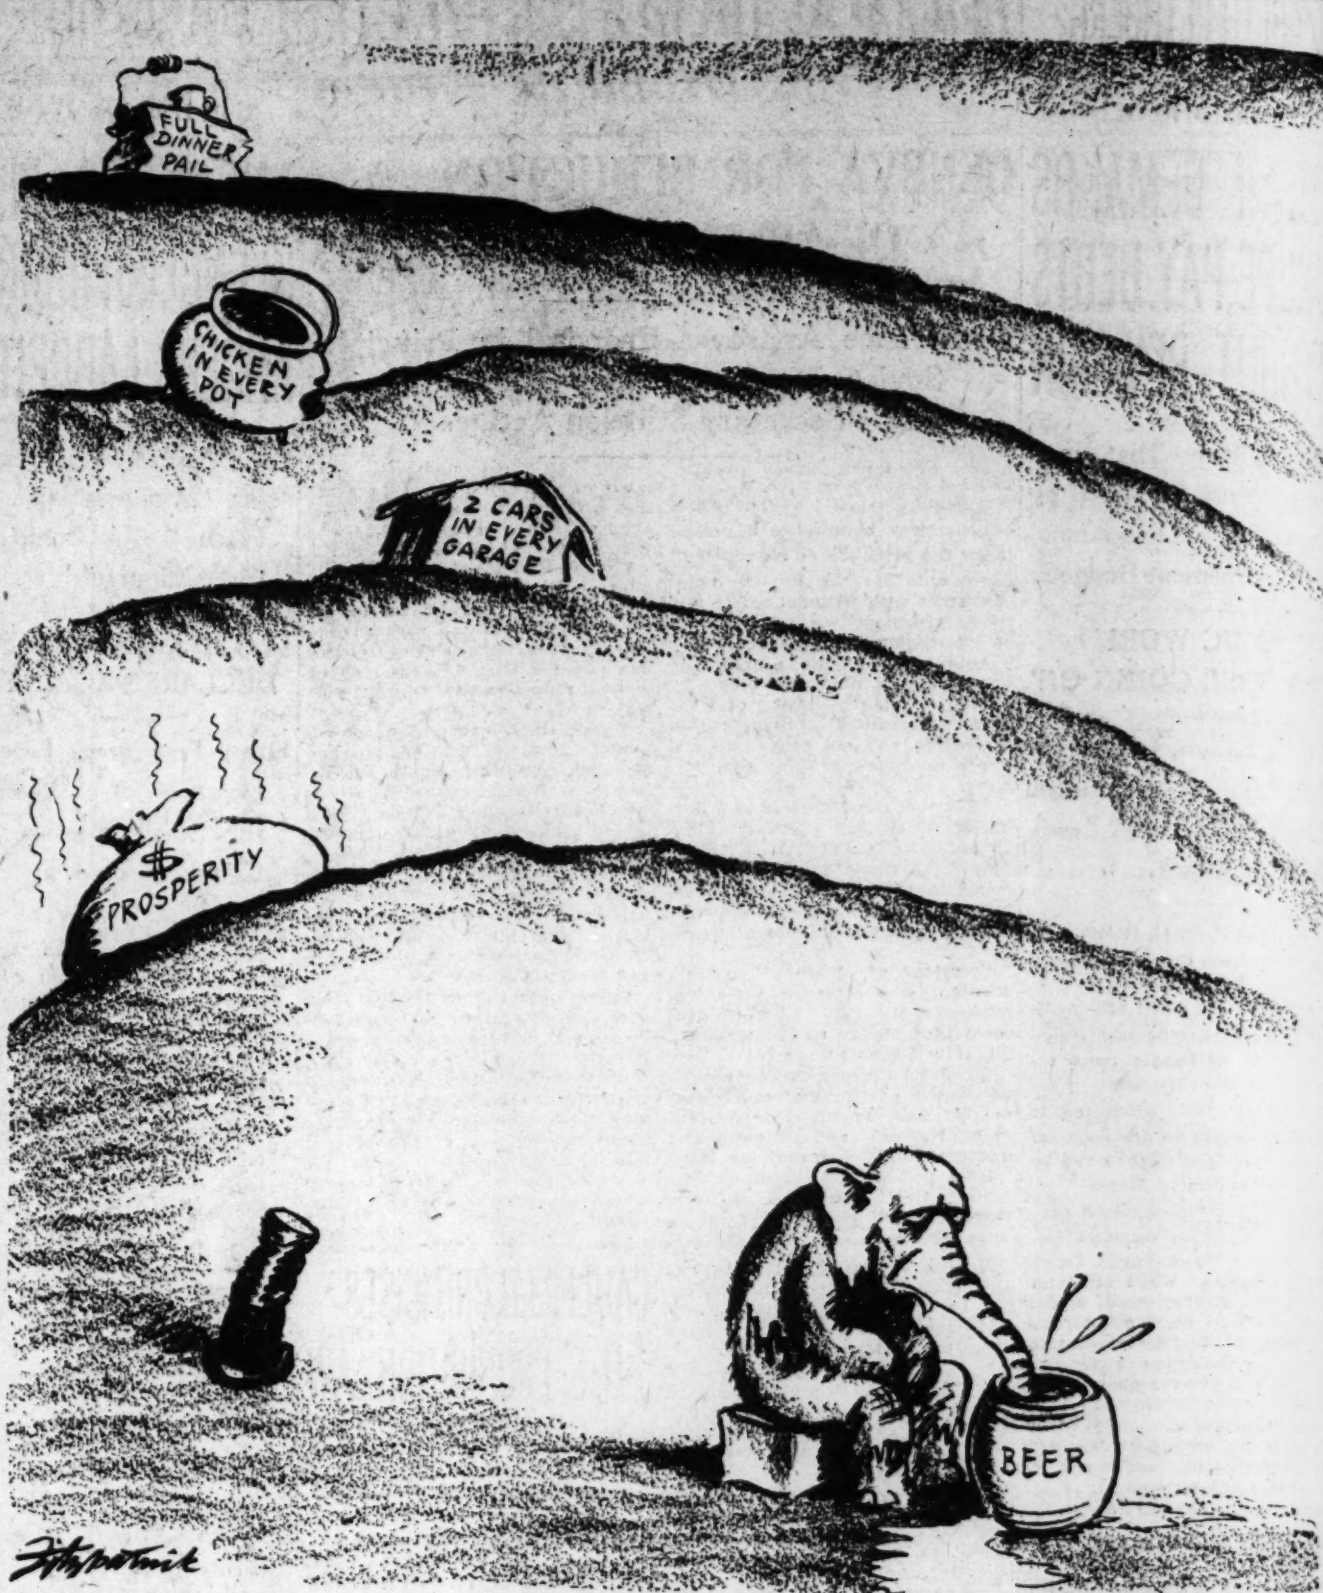

Testifying before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, says the banks are holding some six billion dollars in loans secured by collateral listed on the exchange. He is afraid that "if there were no free liquid markets those loans would become frozen."

"I hesitate to think what would become of the banking system of the country if that happened," Mr. Whitney added. He insists that short selling is an advantage to the market because it is an integral part of speculation. Continuing, he explains: "Speculation and investments make up the markets of the world. To take away one part of speculation or investment leaves the remainder like the man with one leg. He has lost his equilibrium."

If that is true, what reason can there be for not making public the names of the short sellers? Their function, as Mr. Whitney describes it, is patriotic. How, then, can they be villains?

We suspect that there is some other reason for not telling who the short sellers are, and we imagine that before very long this reason will come out. Maybe some of the pesky Democrats have been bedeviling Mr. Hoover, or, who knows, some of the shrewd speculators in the President's own circle have thus been secretly saving the country?

The five-day week, it seems, is 4000 years old, being an ancient Assyrian custom, but it is the no-day week that's curdling the present calendar.

THE RAKE'S PROGRESS.

Britain's Self-Defensive Tariff

Because foreign markets were being closed to her, England was forced at last to abandon free trade tradition; U. S. exports will be affected by duties, by empire preferences and by British pacts with other nations; domestic firms will play larger part in home market; Britain may regain old supremacy in world of tariff barriers.

Theodore Knappen in Magazine of Wall Street.

FREE trade has been waning in England since 1904, but it was not until the elections of last October that it was definitely overthrown. For more than two generations it was considered the sacred cornerstone of British prosperity. But from its inception it was a foregone conclusion that the world must go free trade or else England go protection. No nation of great importance has followed England into free trade, whereas virtually all nations have become protective. While her markets remained freely open to all the world, all the markets of the world were slowly closed to her. Her free ports encouraged the growth of foreign nations and their hampered ports handicapped hers. In a word, free trade policy had all the free on Britain's side and all the restriction against her.

The war reminded the British of their dangerous dependence upon foreign nations in some essential manufactures. The result was the Safeguarding Act, which gave a high margin of protection to the chemical, automotive and other industries. But outside the old revenue duties, which were of no protective value (being levied on commodities England did not expect to produce under any conditions, or else were too low to have much value), this was the only tariff measure Britain had on the books until Nov. 20, 1931. On that date, a protection-wild Parliament adopted the Abnormal Importations Act, authorizing duties as high as 100 per cent on certain non-empire goods, effective until May 19, 1932. Under this authority, 50 per cent duties were imposed on a large number of manufactured articles; and under similar authority, on some agricultural and horticultural products. Animals, foodstuffs, tobacco, raw materials, and articles mainly unmanufactured were exempt except for certain fresh fruits, vegetables, flowers, etc.

This was an emergency measure more related to the fiscal than the tariff policy, but on March 1, Britain formally embarked on a normal protective tariff policy with the enactment by Parliament of a law imposing a general tariff of 10 per cent on all goods except those already taxed and certain exemptions, imported from outside the British Empire. The exception in favor of Empire goods is to stand until Nov. 15, in order to give the dominions time to make up their minds how they will deal with the old lady. No duty was imposed on wheat, but provision is to be made subsequently for a guaranteed price of 10 shillings a hundredweight for British-grown wheat up to a maximum of 27,000,000 hundredweight annually, provision being made for the consumption of that much domestic wheat by British mills.

The effects of this tariff legislation, which will be supplemented by further permanent tariffs when the abnormal provisions expire in May, will be felt by the United States in three ways:

Directly, through the duties imposed on exports to the United Kingdom; through preferences extended to British Empire products; through tariff-trading treaties with other nations.

Effects in the first group cannot be determined until the abnormal duties are succeeded by normal and time enough has elapsed to ascertain how the duties work in practice. But on the basis of the $701,000,000 of goods imported from the United States in 1930, 75 per cent of American imports are already hit by the British tariffs. The remaining 25 per cent, consisting principally of cotton, wheat and meats, is still free. This free-trade margin will doubtless be reduced after the imperial conference, which is to meet in Ottawa in July, determines the policies of the dominions in response to the mother country's departure from free trade.

It seems certain, now that Britain has something in the way of trading stock to offer, the outcome of the conference will be the establishment of a system of reciprocal tariff concessions between Britain and her empire. She is now in a position to offer her dominions and colonies substantial advantages over their competitors in her great markets. Indeed, she will go to the conference with preferences already voluntarily in force, and with the additional trading advantage of being able to withdraw what has been given or give more.

The American share of the British market will probably be still further imperiled by special tariff concessions to foreign countries. These, too, will be double-barreled in their reaction on the United States' greatest foreign market, for they will give our competitors a larger share of the British market and Britain a larger share of their markets.

Argentina, for example, may nose further into the British corn and wheat market and let Britain out-us from some of our exports of manufactured goods to the Southern Republic. At present, we have no weapons with which to meet these prospective reciprocal treaties. Our tariff is a level one for all comers, with no provisions for variation except by the Tariff Commission on the basis of production costs.

It is not to be wondered at that Britain is looking forward to a boom in factory building, which has in fact begun. The opportunity of British factories in the home market is already distinctly wider, and they are being endowed with new lines of access to foreign markets. In both these respects, the suspension of the gold standard for the time being helps. As against the gold standard, the new pound operates to restrict imports and encourage exports, as it means in the first instance higher prices and in the latter lower prices.

While it is true that England has not yet experienced much of a predicted increase in exports as a result of her depreciated currency or any net decrease of imports as a result of her tariff revolution, sufficient time has not elapsed for the pudding to be proved by eating. Moreover, the true test of protection cannot be expected until present abnormal conditions of finance and trade, domestic and external, throughout the world have been improved. It can hardly be doubted, though, that British manufacturers will soon have a much larger share of the home market than they have had, and foreigners correspondingly less.

This home market is the most liberally consuming market in the world in propor-

Too Much Paternalism

From the Monroe County (Mo.) Appeal.

WE recently heard two men of national leadership tell in a nation-wide hearing what their parties stood for. One was Robinson, Senate leader in Washington. He had very little to say except that he thought four billion dollars was too big a budget for the Government. The other was Phil La Follette of the Independent Republicans. He expounded the gospel of Thomas Jefferson as the only hope for the future. As a campaign document, we Democrats could improve on what La Follette said. Wisconsin, with no State debt, the nation's finest system of schools and best system of taxation, is a monument to the Jeffersonian ideas as applied by the La Follettes.

We believe our Government should quit playing Santa Claus and get back to the business of governing. There is a multiplicity of things of odding every branch of industry, serving as parent and guide to every activity, and catering to the ambition of the masses to live without work, has not only way of meaninglessness display, if all localities would take her as a model, singers might often be classified as musicians.

No matter what our problem, whether be mental, material or spiritual, our first impulse is to get in touch with Washington. And in Washington there is a multiplicity of bureaus for every need, even to a bureau of information on how to make blouses. What we need is a Congress that would do away all these paternal activities from the payroll and advise the citizenry to try the experiment of shifting for itself.

AMERICA'S NEW CRIME.

From the Buffalo (N. Y.) Courier-Express.

IN a letter to the Common Pleas Judge of Ohio, Chief Justice Marshall of Ohio wrote: "It cannot be disguised that our Government, through Governors, Mayors, Sheriffs and policemen, has offered terms to the underworld. The courts alone have stood firm against it."

That is a pretty serious indictment of government from one so high in authority as the Chief Justice of Ohio. If the courts alone have stood against the underworld, where is society to look for protection from the underworld? Particularly, where is it to look for protection from the gangsters who are now exploiting kidnappings? The courts can serve only if the kidnappers are brought before them. And this the authorities so far at least seem unable to do.

There is a traditional disfavor in this country for anything favoring a Federal police force. But, as Mr. Coolidge said when as President he delivered the Memorial address at Arlington in 1925, the way to escape more Federal Government is to prove local government. If local government does not clean up the underworld, it may be sure that there will be increasing pressure to have Federal Government do so.

PURIFIED POLITICS.

From the Hartford (Conn.) Times.

Think what public life would be if the emancipation of women hadn't purified it.

tion to population outside of the United States. With such a home market under flexible control, now that England has adopted the trading tariff idea, the possibilities of advantageous tariff bargaining are unlimited. It is by no means impossible that in the new high tariff era Britain may find a way to regain the industrial and commercial supremacy that free trade gave and withdrew. England, under the conditions of international commercial rivalry, may find that she is even more happily adapted to the protective policy of 1932 than she was to free trade in 1912.

ELIZABETH RETHBERG
IN ARTISTIC RECITAL

Metropolitan Opera Soprano
Demonstrates Vocal Skill at Its Best.

By THOMAS F. SHELMAN.

ELIZABETH RETHBERG's recital at the Odeon last night was a demonstration of vocal art at its purest and best. Mme. Rethberg, Metropolitan opera soprano, appeared under auspices of the Civic Music League, providing an appropriate climax for a season of remarkably high quality and soundness, let us hope, a prophecy for the future.

Her voice has a delicate, fine-spun texture that extends almost through its entire range and her east of production indicates a complete mastery of the mechanics of her art. But what makes her singing such a well-known numbers as the "Divinites du Styx" from Gluck's "Alceste," the old English songs, "It Was a Lover and His Lass" and "My Lovely Celia," Schubert's "Der Nussbaum," Schuber's "Die Forelle," Richard Strauss' "Alleneelen," Madalena's aria from "Andrea Chenier" and a number of others.

In each one she successfully revealed its true character by the use of delicate internal stressing and expressive phrasing. Refinement of feeling was always in evidence and though her singing was thereby characterized by a consistent restraint the emotional support that she brought to each song was none the less apparent. Measured quantitatively, much of her singing might have been described as being on a small scale. But psychologically it was as far-reaching as the imagination of her audience permitted.

Mme. Rethberg is mistress of the long vocal line, which she uses with rare discrimination, and never by way of meaningless display. If all localities would take her as a model, singers might often be classified as musicians.

"I've never a selling point in 25 years of said, 'partly what that had attained to present me. Besides, I'd just regard it as a little more of a road of normal. 'I think I life and I'm 'My recreation movies—some like 'Arrows' Who Played? And I seldom cert."

JAPANESE WARSHIPS TURNED INTO BAZARS

Goods Sold on Cruise as Step to Offset Chinese Boycott.

By the Associated Press.
MANILA.—A new idea in trade promotion was presented here when Japanese articles were offered for sale to visitors on two battleships of the naval training squadron, Iwate and Amama.

Manila is the first foreign port the ships visited on a four-month, 10,000-mile tour of ports in the Far East.

The primary purpose of the trip was to train the 200 midshipmen aboard, but the opportunity to stimulate trade in Japanese goods was made the most of.

Several hundred American and Philippine visitors were conveyed to the ships as they lay at anchor inside the breakwater, only a few hundred yards from eight American destroyers, received beer and sandwiches free, while match stands, small Japanese flags and such souvenirs were sold in sections of each ship converted into miniature bazaars. The sales here were estimated at $10,000.

The ships left for Saigon, Indochina, after their three-day stay here, during which the 1500 officers and men were officially feted. The vessels will visit Singapore, Batavia, Java, then six Australian and New Zealand ports and Suva, Fiji Islands.

The squadron sailed March 1 from Yokosuka, Japan, and is scheduled to return July 14.

Both ships are more than 30 years old and were used in the Russo-Japanese War. Vice Admiral Nobuhiro Imamura, who witnessed the World War battle of Jutland from a British battleship, is in command.

With the Chinese boycott severely hampering Japanese exports and shipping, extraordinary means have been taken to stimulate trade. In February a commercial vessel, the Unshu Maru No. 3, brought a party of business men from Japan to Manila on a trade stimulation tour throughout the Far East.

Official figures put the value of Japanese goods imported by the Philippines last year at $9,000,000. The Philippine exports to Japan are comparatively small.

DRY CHIEF DEFENDS AGENTS WHO KILLED STORE-KEEPER

WASHINGTON.—The Government has come to the defense of two prohibition agents who have been indicted for murder and to be tried May 18 at Dallas, Tex., for killing Marion McGlothlin, country storekeeper. He attacked them while they tried to arrest an alleged bootlegger.

Prohibition Director Woodcock said he believed they had acted in self-defense. He announced suspension of the two men, however, as not measuring up to the standard required by his bureau, but said his action should not work against them in the criminal case.

"This country has for generations generally approved violence on the part of its law-enforcing officers, and, for that matter, violence generally. So it is a particularly difficult task to bring the Bureau of Prohibition up to a higher standard than that established by other law-enforcing agencies, particularly in view of the fact that they are dealing, in many instances, with a desperate class of criminals. I believe, however, that it can be done, and we are making steady progress."

PROBATES VOID WILL MADE VALID BY LEGISLATIVE ACT

St. Paul Judge Accepts Testament Distributing $10,000 to Three Needy Heirs.

By the Associated Press.
ST. PAUL, Minn., April 20.—Judge Albin Pearson yesterday admitted to probate the will of William H. Riley, 45 years old, a power company employee who before his death in 1928 named a blind newspaper vendor and two boys, one crippled and the other the oldest in a family of nine children, as heirs to his $10,000 estate.

Riley, who had no known relatives, wrote the will in longhand, without witnesses, and as such it was void under Minnesota law. The Legislature passed a special act making possible the distribution of his money as he intended.

The heirs are Thomas Rowen, blind newsboy; Bernard Mathews, 14, who lost both legs under a freight car while collecting wood to keep his destitute grandmother warm; and Thomas Flaherty, 17, a high school student who is now planning to attend college.

SEED LOANS TO FARMERS MUCH SMALLER THIS YEAR

St. Louis Office Reports $1,000,000 to Date Against $7,000,000 in Last Year.

A sounder agriculture—probably because farmers have returned to raising their own feed and food—is indicated by the fact that seed loans to farmers in this region are less than one-third of the total reached at the corresponding date last year, R. H. McElveen, administrative officer in charge of the St. Louis office, says.

He said today that to date this year $1,000,000 of reconstruction funds had been distributed to 22,000 farmers, while April 20 last year about $7,000,000 of the drought relief appropriation had been lent to 65,000 farmers. Most applications this year, came from Kentucky, Missouri and Oklahoma. Loans average from $37 to $30 this year as compared with $115 last year.

OHIO MINE STRIKERS DISPERSED BY SHERIFF

Action Follows Attempt to Keep 200 Men From Colliery at Caldwell.

By the Associated Press.
CADIZ, O., April 20.—An explosion shook the village of Jewett, 10 miles north of here, in the strike area of the coal fields early today, but apparently did no damage. The cause of the explosion is not known.

Forty miles to the south, in Guernsey County, about 100 strikers were on the march, toward Cambridge. County officers went to meet them.

Sixty miles south, in Noble County, nearly 200 strike sympathizers attempted unsuccessfully to prevent 200 non-striker men from going to work at the Caldwell mine, near Jewett. The strikers were dispersed by Sheriff Clayton McKee and six deputies.

Six shots were fired near the Tasa mine, a short distance from Jewett, but National Guardsmen at the shaft reported no one was hit. They did not know who did the shooting.

The National Guard troops had anti-aircraft guns in position in the Cadiz sector today to prevent any attempts at an airplane bombing of the mines. They were set up after an unidentified plane flew low over the Somers mine, scene of recent rioting, and dropped an object near the tipple.

TWO CITIES IN MEXICO WITHOUT TROLLEY SERVICE

Franchise of Company at Monterey Canceled; Power Cut Off at San Luis Potosi.

By the Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY.—Street railway service in Monterey and San Luis Potosi, two of Northern Mexico's largest cities, has been discontinued. The franchise of the Electric Street Railways Co. of Monterey was canceled by action of the State Assembly following financial difficulties of the company, while the San Luis Potosi system was forced to discontinue when power, furnished by the Compania Luz y Fuerza, was shut off due to the inability of the transportation company to meet obligations.

The latter company is to be turned over to the employees as a co-operative undertaking, it is reported.

TEAR GAS HALTS JAIL BREAK

Three Subdued at Camden, N. J., Trying to Club Way Out.

CAMDEN, N. J.—Three prisoners were subdued with tear gas here Monday night when they tried to club their way to freedom from the county jail. The prisoners are Harry Schwartz and Michael Quinn, charged with carrying concealed weapons, and Patsy Costanzo, suspected burglar, all of Philadelphia.

They crept up behind Walter Taylor, a turnkey, in the bullpen, felled him with sticks and seized his keys. Taylor discharged a tear gas pistol, but received most of the effects himself. Running through a corridor, they struck down a jailer and a deputy warden. The deputy warden sounded the siren and then met the three with a tear gas barrage as they reached the outer gate. At the same time policemen rushed in with drawn revolvers and overpowered the convicts.

AMERICAN ZINC INSTITUTE

CONVENTION HERE ENDED

All Officers Re-elected at Closing Session at Hotel Statler.
The fourteenth annual convention of the American Zinc Institute, which began Monday at Hotel Statler, ended today with addresses of a technical nature. The annual banquet was held last night.

All officers were re-elected yesterday, as follows: President, Ralph M. Roosevelt of New York; vice presidents, J. O. Elton, Salt Lake City; A. P. Cobb, New York; and John A. Robinson, Miami, Ok.; treasurer, Howard T. Young, St. Louis; secretary, Julian D. Conover, New York.

The principal subject discussed at the convention was the institute's campaign to extend markets for standard heavy galvanized (zinc-coated) sheets of iron and steel through a "seal of quality."

DOVER, Del., April 20.—The Republican State convention yesterday elected two national delegates favoring the renomination of President Hoover, and defeated a plank providing for a referendum on prohibition.

GOV. ROLPH'S AIDS
DECLARE MOONEY
PARDON UNLIKELY

Decision, Scheduled for Today and Then Tomorrow, May Be Postponed Until After May Day.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 20.—Persons high in the official family of Gov. James Rolph Jr. predict that Thomas J. Mooney, San Francisco Preparedness day bomb explosion convict, will be denied a pardon.

Gov. Rolph was to have announced his decision today, but postponed the announcement until tomorrow, and there were rumors today of a further postponement until after his return, May 1, from a conference of Governors at Norfolk, Va. The Governor is understood to be considering delaying his action until after May day, lest his decision incite radical demonstrations.

Gov. Rolph has turned all the law points of the case over to his friend, Matt I. Sullivan, former Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Sullivan is understood to have prepared the more technical parts of the Governor's decision.
One of the significant features of the deliberations is the fact that Sullivan has had the almost constant assistance of Capt. Charles Goff, head of the bomb squad at the time of the 1916 explosion, and Goff is opposed to any pardon.
The Mooney defense forces have practically abandoned hope of favorable action.
From his cell in San Quentin prison, Mooney recently issued a statement to the effect he did not expect to receive the pardon.
Rolph was Mayor of San Francisco in 1916 and was leading the Preparedness day parade when the explosion occurred, killing 10 and injuring 49 persons. On several occasions Gov. Rolph has pointed out that, in spite of the fact that some of the best detective brains in the country have worked on the case, no one has ever been produced on whom the guilt could be attached other than Mooney and his associate, Warren K. Billings.
"If Mooney is not guilty," the Governor has said in private conversations, "bring me the guilty person and I will pardon Mooney."
Reports are current that if the Governor denies Mooney a pardon, Billings will apply to the State Board of Prison Directors for a parole.

CLAYTON TAX RATE LOWER THAN IN COMPARABLE CITIES
Below That in 25 of 30 in Missouri and Iowa to Which Questionnaire Was Sent.

Clayton has a lower town tax rate than 25 other small cities in Missouri and Iowa, a survey by Clayton officers shows. With a population of 9613 in the 1930 census, Clayton now has a tax rate of 50 cents on the $100 valuation.

Questionnaires were sent to 41 Missouri and Iowa municipalities. Answers were received from 30. Warrensburg, Mo., reported the same rate as Clayton and Boone Terre, Mo., was the only one reporting a lower rate—45 cents. Potosi, Mo., has the highest rate, $1.76.

Clayton has the largest assessed valuation (about $21,000,000) among the towns covered in the questionnaire. The questionnaires of the places from which answers were received ranged from $1516 to 21,596.

Most of the cities have larger tax rates for sinking funds or special improvement objects than Clayton has. Nearly all of them have a gasoline tax, Clayton being one of those with the lowest rate, 1/4-cent a gallon.

HARVESTER CONCERN PLANS GARDENS FOR ITS JOBLESS

International to Furnish Each With Quarter-Acre and Supervise Work.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 20.—The International Harvester Co. has announced it intends putting its unemployed former workers on the soil to raise their own foodstuffs under supervision of its agricultural experts. Each of 4500 former employees here will be furnished with one-fourth of an acre, the necessary tools and seeds.
The plan also will be put into effect at Fort Wayne, Ind.; Milwaukee, Canton, Ill., and Auburn, N. Y., where the Harvester concern has other works.
Tractors and plows already have begun to prepare the soil in two large plots of ground on the South Side aggregating more than 1500 acres. The soil of each one-quarter acre plot has been examined to determine what crops will grow best. The company will seek to persuade the men to utilize their entire crops, rather than to sell a part in competition with regular farmers.

YOUTH GETS 12-YEAR TERM

ON GUILTY PLEA TO ROBBERY

Robert C. Farrar Jr., who with another young man and Louise Showalter, 16 years old, committed a series of robberies, pleaded guilty in Circuit Judge Peary's court yesterday to two charges of robbery under the Henry law and was sentenced to 12 years in prison.

The customary sentence under the Henry law on a plea of guilty is 10 years but Farrar received two years more because of a former conviction for burglary. He was charged with taking $22 on last Dec. 2 from White Castle restaurant at 1015 North Grand boulevard and 2770 South Vandeventer avenue.

Miss Showalter previously had been sentenced to five years in the State Industrial School for Girls at Chillicothe. The second man, James A. Choate, got a 10-year prison sentence.

Wilson Powell, a Negro, pleaded guilty of robbing Sam Roth, poultry dealer, of $73 on Nov. 26 and of taking $65 from James Kallias on Nov. 23. He was sentenced to concurrent five-year prison sentences on each robbery charge by Circuit Judge Ossing.

are FRESH...

Speedy delivery and dating guarantee this coffee's freshness—protect its rich, full flavor

The finest coffee in the world is neither good nor healthful unless it reaches you absolutely fresh.

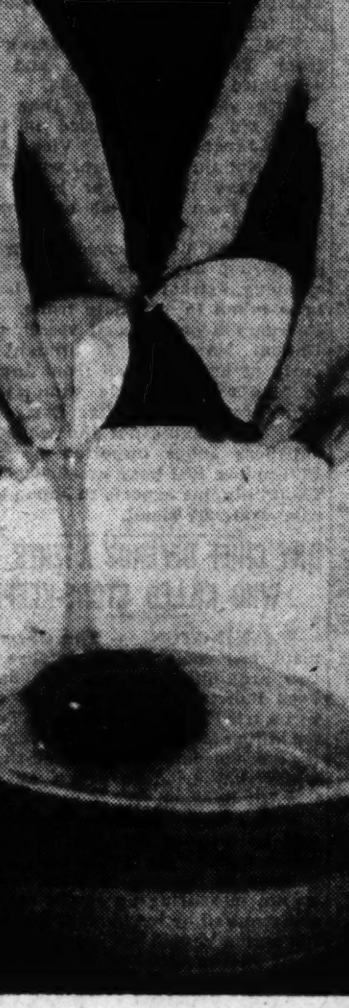

For coffee is perishable... a fresh food, like eggs, milk, butter. And the only way to protect its flavor and healthfulness is to deliver it swiftly... like other fresh foods... before it has a chance to get stale.

Here is the scientific explanation of the need for this precaution:

In every pound of coffee there is approximately a half cup of delicate oil. Fresh, this oil carries the marvelous flavor and aroma you love in good coffee. Stale, it becomes rancid, toxic... is a frequent cause of indigestion, headaches, nervousness, sleeplessness.

And so, to protect you against this danger, and assure you of really fresh coffee, Chase & Sanborn rush their delicious coffee to your grocer, straight from the roasting ovens... Every can is plainly stamped with the date of delivery... And no can of

$11,070 REFUND TO CITY

ON SEWER CONDEMNATION
Judge Hartmann Orders Payment Because of Overestimate of Cost of Right-of-Way Title.

A refund of $11,070.05 was ordered made to the city by Circuit Judge Hartmann yesterday in a condemnation suit providing for the Southwestern Joint Sewer District. The district, beginning at the center line of Sublette avenue, south of Arsenal street, and extending to the River des Pees, south of Francis Park, was established by ordinance seven years ago. On account of the improvement the city paid into the registry of Circuit Court $29,300, which was the estimate of the probable cost of right-of-way title. However, this estimate, it was reported by Associate City Counselor Oliver T. Johnson, proved excessive, the actual right-of-way cost being $18,230. The excess is represented by the amount which the court now orders to be returned.

The fund was deposited with Circuit Clerk Schmolz on June 29, 1928.

WOMAN AND ADMIRER HELD IN KILLING OF HER FATHER

Utah Prosecutor Says Man Admits Striking Aged Stockman in Dispute Over Relations.

MANTI, Utah, April 20.—A 36-year-old divorcee, mother of four children, and her alleged admirer, face charges of first degree murder for the killing of her father, Andrew N. Bjerregaard, 84, in his home at Ephraim, Utah, April 12. Udell Jensen, San Pete County Prosecutor, filed the charges against Mrs. Fredell Jensen and Mendon Draper, 27, yesterday. The County Attorney said Draper confessed he struck the aged banker and stockman in a dispute over his association with Mrs. Jensen, but denied his lieutenants were of sufficient force to kill. County officials said Mrs. Jensen and Draper had been intimate.

While Draper insisted Mrs. Jensen knew nothing of the attack, Sheriff E. J. Peterson was holding a bloody apron found in her home, across the street from that of her father.

One phase of the chase, which was run on the Blackhawk Trail near here, was witnessed by E. B. Hallgren, Rockford, Ill., salesman, who said Torralo flashed past him with a large sedan, with only the driver visible, close behind.

EUROPEAN CURRENCY RULES HAMPER TRAVEL

Conference in Budapest to Seek Way Out of Present Tangle of Decrees.

By the Associated Press.
BUDAPEST, April 20.—Tourist travel in Europe this summer may lose many of its complications if the Mid-European Currency Conference to be held here May 14 to 16 achieves its aim.

At the invitation of the Budapest Chamber of Commerce, economists and banking experts from Austria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia and the other countries now entangled in a maze of foreign exchange regulations will gather here to discuss ways of escape from the jungle of decrees. The baffling feature of most of these decrees is that they are designed to protect the country in which they are issued, but actually succeed in adding to the innumerable obstacles already confronting anyone whose business or pleasure takes him or her money across national boundaries.

Apparently no one in Central Europe dares to hope that the free flow of money and tourists across borders will be entirely restored before autumn, at earliest. The difficulty is that every country with foreign currency restrictions wants to encourage foreigners with money to come in, but at the same time wants to prevent its own citizens from traveling anywhere but at home.

"See Austria first," "See Hungary first" and similar slogans are being reinforced with decrees forbidding citizens to leave the country with more than enough money for a meal or two. For a while, in both Hungary and Austria, it was possible to buy with native currency not only a ticket abroad, but coupons good for hotel accommodations at a foreign destination. So the bar on carrying money out of the country was not fatal. But now both Hungary and Austria have shut down on such dealings.

Virtually the only citizens now able to spend a vacation abroad are those to whom foreigners owe money. Such people can ask to have the money paid them after they arrive on the Riviera, or wherever they are going.

Others, who have no foreign currency, can buy tickets only as far as the border. Even if they happen to have plenty of foreign currency they are permitted to take out only a trifling amount.

If the regulations remain as they are, the only travelers likely to see Europe in anything like comfort this summer will be American, French, Swiss or other tourists able to equip themselves handsomely with American currency or other bank notes still considered as "good as gold."

Even these must be careful to inquire about the latest regulations at each new border, otherwise they may meet embarrassment.

AWAITING SENTENCE KILLS SELF

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 20.—James M. Fairbanks, 40 years old, who was to have been sentenced for grand larceny today, jumped to his death from the window of his room on the twentieth floor of the Hotel Dixie in West Forty-third street this morning.

Police said Fairbanks was involved in the embezzlement of $195,000 in securities and two weeks ago pleaded guilty of a specific larceny of $10,000 from the banking firm of Tucker, Anthony & Co., where Fairbanks was employed as manager.

CITY FIGHTS REMOVAL OF MARKET ST. TRACKS

Cites Curtailed Trolley Service Downtown If P. S. Co. Request Is Granted.

The city opposes abandonment of car tracks in a downtown section of widened Market street. It filed a protest with the State Public Service Commission today.

A hearing was conducted last week by the commission on the application of the Public Service Co. to remove its tracks in Market, between Sixth and Twenty-first streets.

General Manager Greenland indicated that the likelihood that a request would be made later to take up the rails in Market between Twenty-first and Vandeventer avenue. Cost of relocating and repairing the track in connection with the widening of the city's chief reason for the application. It estimates this cost at $500,000, between Sixth and Vandeventer.

The city, which has intervened in the proceeding, characterized the pending application as a "mere piecemeal attempt to deal with a major problem of mass transportation."

It related that the expense of relocating and repairing the tracks is a franchise obligation. The company's action is embarrassing the city, the protest continues, because the city is about to let contracts for paving the wide street up to the station, accompanied by his wife and brother, "Pinky" Martin, E. Saunders, the operator, ordered Martin off the premises with a pistol when he mimicked the animal. "Go ahead and shoot," Martin replied. Saunders fired, the bullet piercing Martin's heart.

No charges were filed against Saunders. The District Attorney said the Martins had been drinking.

OFFICIALS OF VIRGINIA COUNTY SHORT $400,000, AUDIT SHOWS

Indictments Returned Against Arlington Treasurer, Clerk of Circuit Court and School Board.

By the Associated Press.
RICHMOND, Va., April 20.—State Auditor T. Coleman Andrews today advised Gov. Pollard that total shortages revealed in audits of Arlington County officials' accounts amounted to more than $400,000.

Wade Ball, who recently resigned as County Treasurer; William H. Duncan, Clerk of the Circuit Court; and J. F. Hallcock, former school board clerk. Andrews reported today that the shortages found to date in accounts of these officials were approximately as follows: Ball, $20,000; Duncan, $80,000; Hallcock, $6250.

In addition, George B. Venable, until recently Treasurer of Bath County, has been indicted, and J. W. McClung, former Treasurer of Virginia Military Institute, has been arrested. Andrews said today that the McClung shortage is about $19,500 and the Venable shortage about $72,000.

ALLEGED COMMUNISTS HELD UNDER GEORGIA RIOT LAW

Indictment Accuses Them of Aiding in Organization of Groups to Overthrow Government.

By the Associated Press.
ATLANTA, Ga., April 20.—The effort to try six persons charged with attempting to incite riot—a capital offense under an old Georgia law—through distribution of communist literature, has been renewed.

Four of the defendants, Anne Burlack, Mary Dalton, Glimmer Bradley and Henry Story, were re-indicted on the riot charge yesterday. New bills already had been returned against the other two, Joe Carr and M. H. Powers. The new indictments replace bills thrown out on demurrers for lack of specific charges.

The new indictments charge the defendants with aiding in organization of the Communist party and Communist groups here for overthrow of the present form of Government by rioting and other violence.

ASTRONOMER FINDS STAR 'OUT OF STEP'

Prof. Alfred H. Joy Discovers One Inconsistency in Edington's Theory.

By the Associated Press.
PASADENA, Cal., April 20.—Watching the parade of the stars, Prof. Alfred H. Joy, astronomer, has found one like the soldier in the war song, whose mother said they were all out of step but Jim.

It Lacertae, in fact, is two stars, although it appears as one in the big telescope at Mount Wilson Observatory, a branch of the Carnegie Institution of Washington. The spectroscopic disclosed its double identity.

Astronomers have found numerous pairs of stars revolving dizzily about each other out in space. About 300 of these are bright and dim by periods, and through the telescope.

Prof. Joy found that the brightness is due to an eclipse, the dim star of the pair coming between the earth and the brighter one.

Heretofore, such stars have been observed the law advanced by Sir Arthur Eddington, English astronomer, which holds that the brightness of all stars is in proportion to their mass.

"It Lacertae seems to violate this law," said Prof. Joy. "The less massive star of the pair is the brighter and we are unable to explain it."

The two stars are of equal size and five times as large as the sun. The brighter star's mass is equal to that of the sun, but its density is but one-sixtieth that of water.

Prof. Joy found the stars were in eclipse every five days. But the eclipses he saw took place 625 years ago, for it takes their light that long to reach the earth.

"Double stars must originate by some process of breaking up one single body into two," he said. "As the body rotates on its axis it elongates at right angles to this axis, becomes pear-shaped and finally divides into two separate components."

"These may be equal in size or one may be much larger than the other. After they have divided they will revolve about each other in orbits that gradually enlarge and thus increase the distance between the bodies."

"There seem to be good grounds for belief that the hottest stars are the most susceptible to the process of division into two bodies."

"The distance between eclipsing stars is much less than the distance from the earth to the sun, which is 93,000,000 miles."

Industrial Club Among Other Moves Advocates Cutting Governmental Costs.

Governmental costs in St. Louis must be adjusted to the times, the governors of the Industrial Club declared in a statement today. The club expressed confidence in the ability of the public officials to handle the situation.

The club inquired whether there was any reason public administration should escape the economies private business has had to make. In this connection it mentioned more efficient operations, elimination of unnecessary employees and reduction of salaries.

The financial ability of the taxpayer to meet his business and public obligations has decreased steadily during the last year, the club related. It added that governmental expenditures this year in the city, State and nation must be balanced within the capacity of the citizen to pay the bills.

ASTRONOMER FINDS STAR 'OUT OF STEP'

Prof. Alfred H. Joy Discovers One Inconsistency in Edington's Theory.

In the Associated Press. PASADENA, Cal., April 20.—Watching the parade of the stars, Prof. Alfred H. Joy, astronomer, has found one like the soldier in the war song, whose mother said they were all out of step but Jim.

It is Lacrae, in fact, is two stars, although it appears as one in the big telescope at Mount Wilson Observatory, a branch of the Carnegie Institution of Washington. The spectroscopic disclosed its double nature.

Astronomers have found numerous pairs of stars revolving dizzily about each other out in space about 300 of these are bright and dim by periods, as viewed through the telescope. But investigations have proved that this change in brightness is due to an eclipse, the bright star of the pair coming between the earth and the bright one.

Heretofore all of these eclipsing binaries, as they are called, have been observed by the law of Edington, which holds that the brightness of the stars is in proportion to their mass.

"Lacrae seems to violate this law," said Prof. Joy. "The less massive star of the pair is the brighter and we are unable to explain it."

The two stars are of equal size but five times as large as the sun. The brighter star's mass is equal to that of the sun, but its density is but one-sixtieth that of water. Prof. Joy found the stars were in eclipse every five days. But the eclipses he saw took place 415 years ago, for it takes their light that long to reach the earth.

"Double stars must originate by some process of breaking up one single body into two," he said. "As the body rotates on its axis it elongates at right angles to its axis, becomes pear-shaped and finally divides into two separate components."

"These may be equal in size or one may be much larger than the other. After they have divided they will revolve about each other in orbits that gradually enlarge and thus increase the distance between the bodies."

"There seem to be good grounds for belief that the hottest stars are the most susceptible to the process of division into two bodies. The distance between eclipsing stars is much less than the distance from the earth to the sun, which is 93,000,000 miles."

NEW YORK, April 20.—The stock market was an indecisive, two-sided affair today, with fluctuations of the rails balancing heaviness of industrialists. The closing tone was steady, with a mixture of small gains and losses. Transfers approximated a million shares. Despite slightly more favorable midweek business statistics, buying interest was still dormant. A somewhat better tone in the bond market, particularly in the bond market, kept the rails from losing some of their extreme gains recorded during the morning, and industrialists recovered somewhat in short covering in the final dealings.

American can was a soft spot. Telephone dropped two points, American recovered partially. U. S. Steel finished, but the profits declined more than three points and a new low since 1914. Gillette, Dupont, North American and Coca Cola were among issues losing a point or more. Santa Fe and Union Pacific advanced about three points, then slipped back about one point. Chesapeake and Ohio Southern Railway finished about a point higher, and fractional gains were numerous in this group.

Foreign exchange was about steady. The French franc, which had been slightly higher, fell again, and the Dutch florin was again somewhat. Sterling cables ruled at $2.77, up 1/10 of a cent. The midweek steel trade reviews showed the expected moderate gain in output, with the "Iron Age" now places at 22 1/2 per cent capacity, up 1 1/2 points. Electric showed a reduction of 3.8 per cent from a year previously, making the best comparison since the week ended March 19. HOLLAND WITHDRAWING GOLD
Decides to Recall $41,200,000
Mostly in U. S.

LONDON, April 20.—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Amsterdam today said the Bank of the Netherlands has decided to withdraw all the gold it holds abroad, amounting to 103,000,000 florins ($41,200,000), principally in the United States.

It was said that the decision implies no distrust of the dollar, but was reached because of the belief of the directors that the bank does not need to carry a large gold stock abroad under the present circumstances.

MOTOR REVENUE GAIN LAID TO ROAD PATROL

Receipts for Past Four Months
Show $83,533 Increase Over
Same Period in 1931.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 20.—Financial benefit as well as enforcement of motor vehicle laws is derived from operations of the state highway patrol, the second quarterly report of Col. Lewis Ellis to Gov. Caulfield shows.

Motor vehicle receipts reported by the State Treasurer show a gain of $83,533 for the past four months as compared with the same period last year. The increase for January alone was 155 per cent over and above the receipts for the same month in 1931.

"The actual increase undoubtedly will prove to be even greater, for the reason that collections in the branch license bureaus over the State are not reported in full until later in the year," Col. Ellis said. "The Motor Vehicle Commissioner advises that preliminary reports show a large increase in all branch offices, and comments that the highway patrol has stimulated motor vehicle license sales."

Col. Ellis said a conservative estimate on the saving to automobile owners by the recovery of stolen cars during the past quarter would be $30,000, and more than $50,000 for the entire period, since the patrol started operation, Nov. 24, 1931.

Only One Change in Personnel.
"A generally high state of efficiency has been developed within the organization and the members have maintained and strengthened the corps spirit with which they entered their work last November," Ellis reported to the Governor. Only one change in personnel occurred during the quarter, the superintendent said.

An examination of the arrests discloses the patrol also has been active in apprehension of law violators in general along highways.

During the quarter 27 persons were arrested for motor theft, six for robbery, five for kidnapping and assault, five for larceny, three for highway robbery, three for stealing chickens, one each for homicide, embezzlement of United States mail, forgery, holdup and assault, possession of stolen property and carrying concealed weapons, and two fugitives were held for other authorities.

System of Co-operation.

"The growth of the highway patrol as a general law enforcement body does not mean that the organization has attempted to encroach upon the duties of Sheriffs, police and other peace officers," Col. Ellis said. "This growth has been entirely consistent with the intent of the law, and is in large measure the result of a system of co-operation that has been developed between the members of this department and other peace officers throughout Missouri. Many of the arrests were made at the request of other authorities, and several were made jointly by members of this department and local officers."

Charges were instituted against a total of 603 offenders during the quarter. Warnings were given in 5831 cases involving minor infractions which did not seem to justify prosecution.

"The fact that only two cases resulted in acquittal is evidence that arrests made by members of the department are based on meritorious complaints," the superintendent said.

Fines were assessed in 440 cases.

Two offenders were sentenced to the penitentiary and seven were given jail sentences.

Has Recovered 109 Stolen Autos.

Sixty-three stolen cars were recovered during this quarter, making a total of 109 recoveries since the patrol started operation.

"Fundamentally a traffic regulatory body, the department has devoted particular effort to the enforcement of traffic regulations, to the fostering of good driving practices, and to the promotion of safety measures on the State highways," the patrol head explained.

"Probably the greatest noticeable change as a result of this effort in the lighting of motor vehicles.

The patrol has insisted upon commercial vehicles being equipped with clearance lights at the front, to mark the edge of the truck bed, and ample red lights and reflectors at the rear. Those vehicles not subject to the new bus and truck law have been encouraged to improve their lighting equipment as a safety measure. The response has been such that at this time few trucks are to be found on the State highways without proper lights.

Efforts have been made to eliminate from the Missouri highways motor equipment so defective as to constitute a traffic hazard. Thirteen arrests were made for improper equipment, $1 for improper lights and 13 for driving, without lights of any kind. During the three months a total of 20,624 defective lights were reported corrected in the presence of officers.

BOY FATALLY HURT IN FALL FROM SIDE OF STREET CAR

Raymond Grafeman Crushed Beneath Wheels When He Leaps Hold.

Raymond Grafeman, 16-year-old office boy, died at St. Luke's Hospital today of injuries suffered last night, when he fell beneath a Holadmont street car on which he was riding.

Three companions told police that they, with Grafeman, were clinging to the side of the car when Grafeman lost his hold, a short distance east of Bell avenue, where they had boarded the car. The operator, Guy Emmons, heard their shouts, and stopped. Grafeman was lodged beneath the rear trucks, it being necessary to summon a wrecking crew and jack up the car before he could be removed. His left leg and right arm were crushed, amputation being necessary.

Grafeman lived at 1217 Bayard avenue with his mother, Mrs. Ruby Grafeman.

FRATERNITIES SAID TO BE DISBANDING TO ESCAPE DEBTS

Officials at University of Illinois
Seek Way to Force Societies to Pay Their Bills.

By the Associated Press.

URBANA, Ill., April 20.—University of Illinois officials are considering the matter of fraternities which do not pay their bills for rent, fuel, groceries, furniture and other supplies.

A tendency of fraternities to go out of existence to escape payment of debts was noted by C. H. Frederick, assistant dean of men. The university is not responsible for such debts, it was said, but they give the institution a poor reputation.

Frederick said that six fraternities have disbanded in three years, leaving disappointed landlords and grocers without hope of collecting overdue bills. Two other fraternities, he said, "are considering following the same course soon."

A suggestion that fraternities place themselves under the university board of trustees was made by R. J. Rallsback of Hopedale, Ill., president of the Interfraternity council, which considered the problem.

Rallsback said that the trustees might prohibit any fraternity from disbarring unless all its bills have been paid. No action was taken on the plan, however.

The University Senate Committee is expected to consider some time this week the matter of forcing fraternities to pay their obligations.

BRIDGE ORDINANCE APPROVED

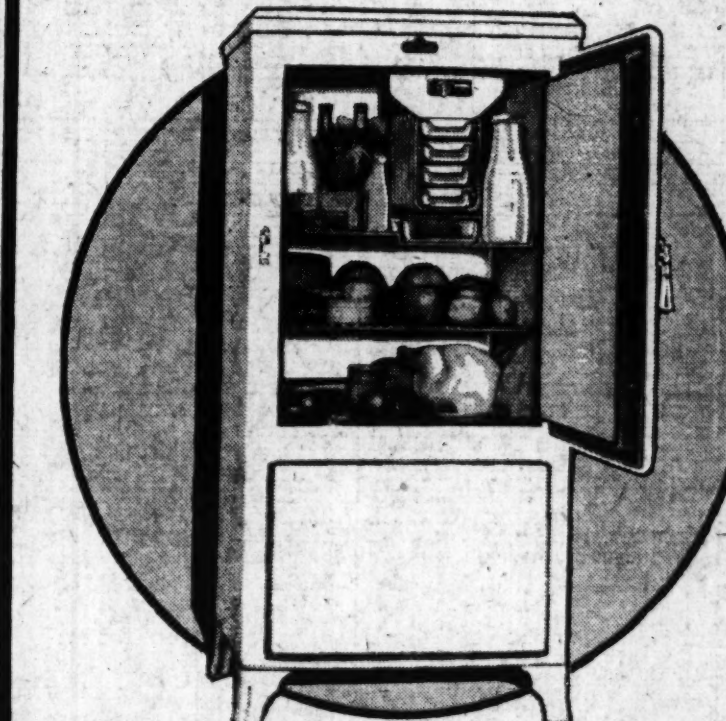

The Board of Public Service yesterday approved a proposed ordinance for the construction of the South Valley Junction Railroad approach to the Municipal Bridge. The approach, to run from the bridge to the Illinois Central right-of-way at Twenty-first street in East St. Louis, will cost $220,000. Under an agreement with the Terminal Railroad, there are to be five approaches to the bridge. One has been completed on the East Side, and the contract has been let for a west approach.
